DIVING GIRL NEAR DEATH'S DOOR

CONFESSES KIDNAPING

Twelve-Year-Old Swimming Champion, In Serious Condition As Result of Abduction and Subsequent Experiences In Woods, May Die.

Forty-One-Year-Old Man Admits Carrying Away Rosalie Shanty And Is Being Held—Muskegon Residents Threaten to "Get" Prisoner.

(Associated Press.)

MUSKEGON, Mich., Nov. 2.—Raymond E. Wilson of Grand Rapids, arrested last night on a charge of kidnaping 11-year-old Rosalie Shanty, pleaded guilty to a charge of abduction when arraigned in circuit court here today.

Girl Near Death's Door.

MUSKEGON, Mich., Nov. 2—While eleven-year-old Rosalie Shanty lay near death in a farm house at Dublin, Mich., early today, Raymond E. Wilson of Grand Rapids was being held at the county jail here under heavy guard as the man who kidnaped the child last Sunday, drove with her to the Jack Pine swamps of Manistee county and there abandoned her.

Wilson confessed, the sheriff's office reported, that he abducted the child. A formal charge of kidnaping was lodged against him and officers announced he would be arraigned on that count unless developments in the girl's condition warranted a change.

Word from Dublin this morning was that Rosalie, widely known here as "the swimming girl," through her expert exhibitions at a local beach last summer, might not recover. She still was in a semi-conscious state and suffering from a high fever as a result of exposure in the forests, where she was found by a farmer, her clothing torn to shreds, and her body scratched and bruised by the underbrush.

Wilson's Confession.

(International News Service.)

MUSKEGON, Mich., Nov. 2.—Raymond E. Wilson of Grand Rapids, Mich., 41 years old, confessed to the abduction and attack upon 12-year-old Rosalie Shanty to Assistant City Prosecutor Glenn Dunn shortly before daybreak today after an all night grilling.

At the time of the confession, Chief of Police Peter Hansen and Sheriff William O. Mathews were present.

With a cigarette in his mouth and just a trifle stooped in a chair after an ordeal which lasted for hours, he calmly recited the sordid details of one of the most atrocious crimes that has ever taken place in this country.

Had Been Drinking.

"I had been drinking moonshine," he said at one time during his recital of what he had done. "When we were several miles from Dublin, Mich., I stopped the car. I don't know what made me do it, but I just lost control."

Wilson is about six feet tall and weighs more than 170 pounds.

In his startling confession, Wilson said that Rosalie ran away from him, screaming in terror at 5 p. m. last Sunday evening. She was not found until the following Tuesday at 6 p. m. The police were amazed to find the little girl had wandered through the pine forests of northern Michigan for over thirty-six hours.

Here is Wilson's confession.

"I came to Muskegon from Grand Rapids the morning of October 17, I

Randall Digs Up More Money For Campaign Fund

Mark W. Woods of Lincoln has added his mite to the list of republican campaign contributions, by donating $500 to the state committee's fund. He is credited with having given that sum in a supplemental report filed by Treasurer W. A. Selleck of the state committee.

A second contribution of $375 has been made by C. H. Randall, candidate for governor, who has previously donated $250.

Total contributions so far reported for the g. o. p. state campaign, that include no amounts of $25 and under are in the neighborhood of $7,000. In addition to this, the committee has received a large amount of free help from the state code departments, and Governor McKelvie has been out making speeches at his own expense.

City's Growth Of Population 2500 In Year

More than 500 new gas customers have been added to the lists of the Lincoln Gas & Electric Light Co., during 1922. Most of these are in newly built homes. There has been more housebuilding in Lincoln the past spring and summer than ever before during the same period of time. General Manager J. E. Harsh of the gas company thinks that the increased number of its customers indicates a growth of population during the year, amounting to 2,500 or more.

Cornerstone for Capitol Is Here

The large block of Indiana limestone which will be used as the cornerstone for the new state capitol arrived in Lincoln Wednesday night and was to be seen Thursday morning on a flat car on Capitol square. The interior has been hollowed out for the insertion of a sealed metal case which will contain newspapers, documents and other articles.

Even with its hollow inside, the stone weighs two tons or more. It is 5 feet long, 4 deep, and 2 thick with bevcled edges on two sides.

GENERAL FUND DEFICIT GROWS

State Over $595,000 Behind In Its Current Accounts.

When the books were closed on October 31 in State Treasurer Cropsey's office, they showed a "minus" total of $595,386 in the general fund, which is used to pay running expenses of the state government and to maintain its institutions.

In other words, the state is over $595,000 behind in its current accounts, although it has large sums on hand in the capitol fund, the hail insurance fund, the temporary and the permanent school funds, and some other special funds, which go to make up a total cash balance of $5,306,860 in the treasury, most of this being deposited in banks.

The general fund deficit was almost doubled in October, increasing from $318,160 at the beginning of the month to $595,386 at the close. The total cash balance in all funds has shrunk from $5,540,868 to $5,306,860.

Receipts for the state capitol fund during the month were $31,297, while the disbursment amounted to $72,218.

The state kept up its lick of "a million a month" on the spending side, the total outgo being $1,038,414, while only $804,689 was taken in.

It is expected that the general fund deficit will grow to a million dollars or more by December 1. About $900,000 more is owing to contractors for work done on state highways this year, for which warrants have not yet been issued.

BRYAN, MOREHEAD SPEAK SATURDAY

Both Charles W. Bryan, democratic nominee for governor, and former Governor John H. Morehead, nominee for congress in the First district, will speak Saturday evening at the Lincoln auditorium, in the final political rally of the campaign for that party.

It will be Mr. Bryan's homecoming from an extensive speaking tour on which he has been hailed from one end if the state to the other as "the next governor of Nebraska." He will face a friendly audience of his neighbors and friends, patrons of the municipal coal yard, and beneficiaries of the recent settlement of the long pending dollar gas litigation in which he had an active part as mayor of Lincoln some years ago.

Mr. Morehead has been devoting some of his time to this city during the campaign, but has not as yet been heard at any large public assemblage here. He will precede Bryan on the speaking program. The meeting is to start at 8 o'clock.

After speaking at Grand Island on Thursday evening, Mr. Bryan is billed to talk Friday at these places, while enroute back to the capital:

Hampton, 10 a. m.; Benedict, 1 p. m.; Seward, 4; York, 8.

To wind up the campaign next Monday, he will speak at the following points:

Crete, 10:30 a. m.; Wilber, 2 p. m.; Western, 4; Tobias, 5; Fairbury, 8.

Officer of Farm Council to Speak

Benjamin C. Marsh, secretary of the farmers' national council, who is in Nebraska for a series of political addresses, will speak in the Christian church at Havelock on Friday at 2 p. m. He will dicuss the situation in Nebraska from the standpoint of organized labor and the farmer. Mr. Marsh was formerly connected with one of the federal departments at Washington.

INTEREST IN COOKING SCHOOL

Larger Attendance Thursday At Course Arranged By Corn Products Company.

Lesson Deals With Up-to-Date Method of Seasoning and Shortening.

The nutritive elements needed for the human body and a classification of foods according to their food values were explained by Mrs M. D. Zimmerman, home economics expert, to the class at the Twentieth Century Cooking school Thursday morning. The demonstrations for the morning and afternoon were the making of creamed corn, corn tamale, hot biscuits and coffee cake. The lesson was on up-to-date methods of seasoning and shortening.

The attendance at the cooking school is steadily increasing. A number of the women who came to the first session Wednesday morning have come every time since.

The class is conducted in an informal manner. Mrs. Zimmerman's lectures are of a general nature, and while she tells of the many uses of corn she also lectures on foods in general. She carefully explains the methods she uses in cooking and answers all questions. The women come with notebooks and pencils and go home prepared to make new dishes.

The lesson Friday will be on salad and salad dressings. Demonstrations will be of Mazola mayonnaise, chiffondale salad, fruit salad, fruit juice salad dressing, thousand island salad dressing. The morning class begins at 9:30 and the afternoon class at 2 o'clock. All women and girls interested in cooking are invited to attend by courtesy of the Corn Products Refining company of Omaha and the Lincoln Gas and Electric company.

The school will be in session the rest of this week and all next week. The course laid out covers many types of cooking.

ASK GOVERNOR TO OBEY LAW HIMSELF

Lincoln Shop Crafts Want Green Removed From Mediation Board.

Pass Resolution Urging McKelvie to Set Example By Observing Statute.

A resolution calling Governor McKelvie's attention "to the need of obedience of law by himself to the end that he may set a good example for the guidance of the men he has tried so hard to classify as law violators in the shop craft strike," and an attack upon the membership of the state board of mediation and intervention in strikes and lockouts was passed by the shop crafts of the Lincoln labor union, Thursday. The document reads:

Whereas—The state board of mediation and intervention in strikes and lockouts is a board created by the statutes of the state in an endeavor at least minimize strikes and lockouts and

Whereas—The law creating the board provides that one member shall be selected from the employing group, one from the general citizenship, and one shall be a member of a labor union affiliated with the Nebraska Federation of Labor; and

Whereas—These appointments are made by the governor and members may be removed by the governor; and

Whereas—Benjamin Green, the member of the board appointed to represent labor, although not eligible at the time of his appointment, is doubly incompetent to serve in such capacity at the present time for the reason that he is now employed in the Lincoln Burlington shops and this fact automatically erases his name from the membership roll of the machinists' union; therefore be it

Resolved—That this mass meeting of members of labor union call upon Governor McKelvie to obey the mandate of the law and name a member of the board who is eligible and competent to serve in the place of Benjamin Green; and be it further

Resolved—That the attention of Governor McKelvie be called to the need of obedience to law by himself to the end that he may set a good example for the guidance of the men he has tried so hard to classify as law violators in the shop crafts strike.

EXPECT RECORD CROWDS NOV. 11

Reviewing Stand For Parade Will Be In Front of City Hall.

Parking Will Be Limited on O Street Says Mayor, Zehrung.

The reviewing stand for the Armistice day parade, when officials expect the biggest crowd that Lincoln has ever seen, will be located in front of the city hall between Ninth and Tenth streets in front of the city hall. Preliminary plans worked out for the police and the boy scouts on that day, provide that no cars will be parked on O street between Ninth and Tenth streets and no cars on the south side of O street from Tenth to Fifteenth streets and none on the west side of Fifteenth street from O street to the capitol grounds.

These plans are announced now to acquaint the public with the facts of the parade to prevent misunderstandings on the day. It is desired to keep O street as clear as possible so that the great crowds can all see without having to look through and over parked automobiles.

Mayor Zehrung expects a record breaking crowd and is planning accordingly. He joins with the American Legion and the Chamber of Commerce in asking that public and private buildings be decorated for the occasion. He has seen the three state capitols, the third at least begun, but he adds that he thinks no man living will ever see another one built in Nebraska. Because of the holiday, the corner stone laying and the season of the year which allows farmers to take a day off, he thinks uncounted thousands will be on hand November 11.

U. S. DEBT MOUNTS DURING OCTOBER

Increases 265 Million In One Month, According to Treasury Figures.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—An increase of more than $265,000,000 in the public debt during October is shown in figures made public today by the treasury.

On October 31, the gross public debt stood at $23,077,000,000 as compared with $22,812,000,000 on September 30 and with $23,159,000,000 on October 31, 1921.

Issuance of government securities in excess of redemptions during the month particularly the half billion dollar bond issue, treasury officials explained, was responsible for the increase, but was not regarded as interfering with the orderly quarterly reduction of the national debt.

Lions Entertianed At Noon Luncheon By Y. M. C. A. Board

A hundred members of the Lions club were guests Thursday noon of the Y. M. C. A. board of directors at a luncheon held at the Y. M. C. A. which was featured with the display of much "pep" and singing and short talks by C. O. Bruce and Dr. M. E. Vance.

The Lions are the second civic organization to be entertained by the Y. M. C. A. board of directors, the Pathfinder club being feasted Wednesday noon. Friday noon the Kiwanis club is invited. The board is entertaining these civic organizations with the purpose in view of knitting closer the ties between the association and these organizations.

Mr. Bruce, president of the board of directors extended the welcome to the Lions and spoke briefly about the purposes and the objective of the Y. M. C. A. He was followed by Dr. Vance, chairman of the capacity membership campaign, who declared that the association was operating at present at less than two-thirds membership capacity and that it was the desire of the association to render maximum service. This, he said, was the purpose of the association in recruiting the large membership.

The Y. M. C. A. tumbling team entertained the Lions between courses, with a series of stunts, following which O. B. Anderson demonstrated the use of the Indian club, and John Fuhrer, of the physical department gave a Highland fling.

Fixes Bond for Man Arrested on a Kansas Charge

Charles Mangan, alias Charles Brown, was brought before United States Commissioner H. J. Whitmore who fixed the defendant's bond at $3,000 for appearance before the Kansas district court on a chrge of breaking and entering the postoffice at Volland, kas., and stealing $48.84 December 5, 1919. Mangan says he can furnish the bond. A complaint was filed against Mangan last spring nd he was bound over to the Kansas grand jury. He was indicted by the grand jury October 14, 1922. Mangan failed to appear in court in Kansas recently, it is said, and his bond was forfeited. A search was instituted and he was found at Brainard, Nebraska.

BRINGS A COMPLAINT

Myron McGrale, Driver of Car, Faces Manslaughter Charge as Result of Accident Which Cost Life of Mary Zarek.

A charge of manslaughter against Myron McGrale, 323 North Thirteenth street, driver of the automobile in the fatal accident near Pennet, Neb., October 21, in which Miss Mary Zarek was killed, was brought by the county attorney in Justice W. A. Hawes' court Thursday. The complaint alleges that McGrale drove the car carelessly, recklessly, negligently, feloniously and at an unlawful speed greater than is reasonable, and dangerous to life, limb, and property which caused the death of Miss Zarek. A hearing was to be held Thursday afternoon.

A coroner's jury, Tuesday afternoon, found that Mary Zarek came to her death by being thrown from the automobile carelessly driven by McGrale.

Six young people, Miss Zarek, McGrale, Earnest M. Franceon, J. O. Dean, Miss Florence Stiers, and Miss Viva Maddox, were returning from a dance at Bennet Friday night, October 20, in an automobile belonging to McGrale's father driven by young McGrale. The car crashed into a cement culvert on the road just outside of Bennet, turning it completely around and throwing all the occupants in the rear seat to the ground, killing Miss Zarek, and seriously injuring Franceon, Dean and Miss Stiers.

NEITHER MONTH A RECORD BREAKER

August, September and October Combined Set New Mark.

No Other Like Period In History So Hot Or So Dry.

October was a warm and a dry month, but it was not a record-breaker in either respect. The same can be said of September and of August according to Observer George A. Loveland of the U. S. weather bureau. But while neither of these months broke the record for average high temperature or for dryness, the three combined broke all records for a simila period. Mr. Loveland says:

"Again we have had some unusual weather, a most remarkable fall, as all testify when assembled in groups. Still it has not been a record breaker in either nigh temperature or dry weather for the past two months. In the past thirty-five years four Octobers have been warmer and thirteen have had less rain than the past month. September was a pleasant month this year, but in the past thirty-five years two have been warmer and fifteen drier. Including the 1.21 inches which fell on the last two days of October the rainfall for the two months of September and October was 72 per cent of the average for these two months and not at all remarkably dry.

"August, with only 0.69 inch, was an unusually dry month but even this was not a recordbreaker as two Augusts have been drier than August 1922. The rainfall, however, for the three months of 1922 was only 49 per cent of the average for these months, and the total for the three months is the least of any year in the past thirty-five, or since the record began at Lincoln.

"In like manner when we combine the temperatures for August, September and October the average for this year is higher than for any other year since the record began.

"The unusualness of the fall, then, is mainly because we have three months in succession all near but not quite record breakers, but when combined the average for the three months is a record breaker for the period.

"In no other year have these months been record breaking or near record breaking in both temperature and rainfall. This combination of pleasant, agreeable fall weather has made the fact so noticeable."

House Is Wrecked When "Blackhand" Letters Held Up

CHICAOG, Nov. 1.—"Blackhand letters" meant nothing in the young life of Josephine Collure, 14 year-old high school girl. But the members of the Collure family including Josephine, had the shock of their lifes early today when a bomb wrecked their homes. Josephine had intercepted several letters addressed to her father and demanding sums of $500 and $1,0000, which she destroyed.

"Pa and Ma can't read English, anyway, so it was no use getting them all excited," Josephine said in explaining her destruction of the letters. "I didn't think anything would come of the threats."

Collure, a fruit merchant, and his family were tossed from their beds when the bomb wrecked the porch and the windows in neighboring houses.

LOYAL CODE CLAN DOES NIGHT WORK TO HELP RANDALL

Rally at Public Works Department Offices to Lay Down Mail Barrage.

Mimeographed "Dear Friend" Letters Going Out to Nebraska Voters.

In the interest of Charles H. Randall, republican nominee for governor, and of no other candidate, the rented office quarters of the state public works department on the top floor of the Brownell block were turned into a political campaign bureau on Monday and Tuesday evenings this week, and a large part of Governor McKelvie's code army was assembled there to get a large quantity of Randall literature out to Nebraska voters.

Thus did the McKelvie machine once more demonstrate the practical workings of "efficiency" and "economy" under the code system, and put into effect the McKelvie idea of "taking the state's business out of politics."

In behalf of the man whose election is deemed necessary by the code secretaries and bureau and division heads in order to hold their respective jobs, women employes were called upon to do "voluntary" work in addressing envelopes, folding and enclosing a circular letter bearing Randall's mimeographed "signature" and with it a printed leaflet containing his picture and an eulogistic biographical sketch.

The sending out of this "personal letter," produced on multigraph machines, is the final stroke of the g. o. p. gubernatorial candidate's campaign. The work done Monday and Tuesday in the public works department offices was merely the final "cleanup," although it alone required the services of many peiple on the state payroll.

Letter to Automobile Owners.

The Randall circular letter which is an argument against C. W. Bryan's proposal to reduce automobile license fees, is addressed to "Dear Friend." It is being sent to licensed automobile owners in Nebraska. Mr. Randall and the code officials hope that enough of his "dear friends" will vote for him to elect him.

Whether the state paid the postage has not been disclosed. The code departments are heavy purchasers of stamps the year round. Agriculture Secretary Leo Stuhr, for instance, has been buying them at the rate of three hundred dollars' worth per month.

The public works department is the one from which George K. Leonard, now assistant secretary, sent out letters some time ago to members of county boards over the state, asking them to "see Randall" and urge him to appoint Leonard to the $5,000 secretary's job.

Whether Mr. Leonard has been given any reason to expect the appointment is a matter of conjecture. Candidate Randall says he has made no promises. But Mr. Leonard and other code dignitaries are going right ahead as though they expect to be appointed under the new administration. They are working harder than anybody else for Randall's election.

It costs the state of Nebraska $4,320 per year rental for the top floor of the Brownell block, where the public works department is housed. The free use of these rooms for campaign purposes, together with the free services of a large number of code employes—to say nothing of postage, paper and electric light—has saved Candidate Randall and his expectant supporters a very large sum of money.

Didn't Go Home for Supper.

According to the woman who cleans up the office rooms daily, last Monday evening was an exceedingly busy time in the public works department.

LOCAL STRIKERS QUIT PICKETING

Picketing by former shop men in and around the Lincoln terminal has been abandoned, according to Tom Smith, special agent and for more than a week there have been no strikers in evidence near the approaches to the Lincoln round house.

At Havelock, the Burlington has cut up some of its bunk houses into sections, closing them into two room houses and have set them upon their shop grounds, connected them with water and lights and will move the workers with families into them for the winter. Havelock is still unable to provide either houses or rooms enough to rthe men who took the places of the strikers, officials say and it will be next spring at least before all of the Burlington men can be cared for off of the shop grounds.

At one shop town in Illinois the business men raised $25,000 Wednesday to be used in building houses for the shop workers.

The movement of grain is slightly improving in the state and the Burlington is loading more than 200 cars daily. The return of box cars from the east and from the Burlington lines east is beginning to have some effect and officials declare will soon relieve all congestion at the shipping points.

57TH BIRTHDAY OF PRESIDENT

Harding Has Double Anniversary—Celebrates Birth and His Election.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—President Harding today celebrated the 57th anniversary of his birth, almost as quietly and simply as the average American citizen.

There were no indications at the white house of anything more than just an ordinary day in the life of the chief executive of the land. Because Mrs. Harding still is confined to her bed, although recovering from her recent illness, there will not be a birthday dinner party. The president will spend the evening with her.

The fact that today was his birthday, however, was not forgotten by the close friends of the executive or by the nation and the world at large. All day long—the beginning really was yesterday—telegraph wires at the white house ticked and messenger boys arrived carrying messages of birthday greetings, many of them from rulers and leaders of other countries.

Close acquaintances of Mr. Harding remarked today on the recent improvement in his physical condition. A month ago, the strain of two years—for it was just two years ago today that Mr. Harding was elected to the presidency—had become noticeable. A summer of continuous work without a vacation, the troubled industrial situation and finally Mrs. Harding's illness, had increased the strain. Adjournment of congress, adjustment of the major controversies and the steady progress toward recovery made by Mrs. Harding, allowed the tension to lessen. Heeding the advice of his physician, the president for a month has been taking things easier, has devoted more time to rest and has spent more time on the golf links.

Pass $3000 Mark in Social Welfare Drive For Funds

With only four districts out of twenty-seven accounted for, subscriptions to the Social Welfare fund had exceeded the $3,000 mark before noon Thursday according to Secretary C. E. Pravey. The year's budget calls for $7,500 to be raised in Lincoln. Part of this amount, however it is expected to be raised during the year. The sum now collected includes donations for from four districts and voluntary subscriptions sent to Mr. Purvey by mail.

The rainy weather Tuesday nad Wednesday is blamed by Mr. Prevey for the delay in checking up the returns. The canvass will be completed, he believes, by Saturday. The Junior League is canvassing in the residential districts, with a committee of thirty business men working down town.

Same Judges to Serve at General Election Tuesday

Judges and clerks of election appointed before the primary in July will serve at all general state and county elections until judges and clerks of election are appointed before the primary in 1924 without further notice from the clerk of the district court, and should appear for service as notified in the appointment sent out before the primary election, J. S. Baer, clerk of the Lancaster county district court, announces.

CUYLER IS DEAD

DOCTOR SAYS DEATH DUE TO APOPLEXY

Came Prominently Before Country During Recent Shopmen's Strike When He Stood Out Against Strikers' Demands on Seniority.

(Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—Thomas Dewitt Cuyler, a director of the Pennsylvania railroad company and chairman of the railroad executives' association, was found dead today in the private car of President Rea of the Pennsylvania in Broad street station.

The private car arrived at Broad street station early today and was placed on a side track. According to instrutions a porter called Mr. Cuyler at 8 a. m. He received no response, and, becoming alarmed, summoned an attendant and a physician. The doctor pronounced Mr. Cuyler dead. Death was due to a heart attack. He had been dead a little more than an hour, according to the physician.

Mr. Cuyler was a lawyer, but most of his time was taken up with railroad and financial affairs.

He came prominently before the country in the recent railroad shop strike by virtue of his position as chairman of the railway executives and took a firm stand against some of the demands of the strikers, especially that relating to seniority.

Mr. Cuyler was born in Philadelphia and was 68 years old.

Apoplexy was the exact cause of death.

Name Successor Soon.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—A successor to T. Dewitt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, who was found dead in aprivate car today in Philadelphia, will be chosen at the next regular meeting of the association on November 9, it was announced today. In the meantime Judge Alfred P. Thomb, secretary-counsel and vice chairman of the association, will be acting chairman.

Mr. Cuyler long has been prominent because of the leading part he had played in labor controversies affecting the railroads.

Last summer his name was constantly in the headlines during the nationwide rail shopmen's strike. He was one of the rail executives most vehement in his assertion that when the men walked out they had forfeited their seniority rights.

It was around this point that peace negotiations in the strike pivoted. Mr. Cuyler was ex-officio head of the committee which replied to peace proposals advanced by President Harding and took a leading part in conferences held here with representatives of the running trades acting as mediators for the shopmen.

MARKS SKID AGAIN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—German marks dropped to another new low record today, being quoted here at 1 13-16 cents a hundred, or 5,517 on the dollar.

MISS KATHERINE KIMBALL IN PLEASING RECITAL.

Miss Katherine Kimball, lyric soprano, appeared in recital last evening at the First Christian church before a most critical audience composed of instructors, musicians, music lovers and friends. Miss Kimball is a member of the faculty of the University School of Music and is a graduate of that institution in both the piano and voice departments. This was her first public appearance in several seasons and her friends were truly amazed at the splendid progress she has made during that time.

Miss Kimball's voice has a warm, rich quality particularly lovely in its higher register and with a flexibility and accuracy seldom found in so young a singer. A program of Old English, German, Italian, Scandinavian, French and American songs which she sang in four different languages, English, French, German and Italian, offered much variety and gave the singer an opportunity to display her art to fine advantage. She began her program with an old English number which was followed by a group of German songs of which the dainty Schubert number was done in such a light and airy manner as to win instant approval.

The climax of the program was reached in the aria from the "The Barber of Seville," a most difficult number and one before which the most practiced singer may hesitate, but which Miss Kimball accomplished with great credit to herself. The Chaminade "Sombrero" was charming and the Fourdrain "Chanson Norvegienne" was most effectively rendered. At the close of the last group which was one of American songs and included "The Wild Bird" by Lieurance Miss Kimball was recalled and as an encore she sang "Happy Song" by Teresa del Riego playing the difficult accompaniment herself.

The program was heard with close attention and the hearty congratulations received at the close from her collegiates and friends showed the esteem in which her musicianship is held by them.

Louise Zumwinkel Watson was the accompanist and came in for a goodly share of congratulations on her work in adding to the success and attractiveness of the program.

The program follows:

Old English
A Pastorale, Carey (arr. by H. Lane Wilson).
German
Die Lotus Blume, Schumann.
Vergebliches Staendchen, Brahms. (Folk Song of the Rhine.)
To be Sung on the Waters, Shubert.
Italian

Make Community Wide Plans For Father-Son Week

At a recent meeting of the county boys work council at the Y. M. C. A. community wide plans for observing "father and son week" were adopted. The council is composed of a representetative from each church who promotes boy work in that church. The plans suggested are as follows: Each representative will create a boys work committee in his church and will seek to promote as near as possible the following program. A church banquet for all fathers and sons the early part of the week. Monday night is suggested. Friday night will be community play night. Unter the direction of the community civic league and parent teacher associations the program will be promoted in various school centers. At the Lincoln high school a father and son night will be promoted by the Hi-Y club. Saturday the 18th will be "Home day." Fathers will be urged to spend sometime of this day with their boys either at home or on a hike. Sunday November 19 is suggested as "Church day" and plans will be made in most churches for a special father and son service either in the morning or the evening. Plans are also being made for a mass meeting for fathers and sons, Sunday afternoon in a down town theatre.

Father and son week is a national event and has grown tremendously the past few years. Some of the purposes are to get fathers to renew their interest in their paternal obligations by becoming acquainted with the best books and experience of fathering the boy; to lead sons to a deeper respect and appreciation for their fathers and homes; to lead both fathers and sons to regard the church and Sunday school as necessary to the finest development of their spiritual lives and to secure their co-operation in the work and support of the church.

City Briefs

Asks Judgment.—Wilson & Co. has brought suit in county court here against Ernest W. Tschauder for $300 for merchandise.

Asks Appointment.—A petition for appointment of an administrator of the estate of the late Almira J. Baker has been filed in county court here. The estate consists of $1,700 in personal property and $1,000 in real estate. Five sons and daughters survive.

Sues on Promissory Notes.—John C. Albrecht has brought suit in district court here against Cora A. Niederdeppe and Otto E. Block for $1164 and $1,161.24 on promissory notes.

Missionary Talks.—Rev. M. H. Wilkinson, state missionary for the negro Baptists of Nebraska, will preach every night at the Morning Star church, Twenty-first and P streets until next Sunday. Every local colored church is represented in club form.

Decree To Wife.—Lois DeMatties has been granted a decree of divorce from John DeMatties by District Judge W. M. Morning. Mr De Matties is a former Lincoln musician and is now living in Peoria, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. DeMatties were married at Wahoo in 1916. She blamed her husband's artistic temperament and his failure to support her for their domestic difficulties. Mrs. DeMatties sued her husband for divorce in September, 1921, but dismissed her suit a month later, a reconciliation having been effected. In a letter to the court, Mr. DeMatties stated he sincerely hoped his wife would be granted a decree.

Delegates to New York.—The Chamber of Commerce has been asked to name a representative to attend a mass meeting in Madison Square garden, New York City, celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Merchants association, November 17. President August Eiche will probably appoint some chamber members who will be in New York at that time.

Kiwanians at Y. M. C. A.—The regular weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Friday noon, instead of at the Chamber of Commerce. All four civic clubs have been invited by the association officers to lunch there one day this week, starting what is hoped to be an annual custom.

Rate Remains Same.—The November gas rate will be $1.20 per thousand cubic feet, the same rate as for October and one cent less than the September rate. This is likewise the same rate as agreed to during war times when the dollar gas rate was held to be confiscatory. Now the charge for gas is figured on the actual cost of manufacture plus a fixed charge of 75 cents which covers items determined other ways and fixed charges such as interest on the investment and depreciation of the plant.

Shame on Them.

PERHAPS there are a few mothers who do not know the virtues of Fletcher's Castoria. Perhaps there are a few who know that there are imitations on the market, and knowing this demand Fletcher's. It is to ALL motherhood, then, that we call attention to the numerous imitations and counterfeits that may be set before them.

It is to all motherhood everywhere that we ring out the warning to beware of the "Just-as-good". For over thirty years Fletcher's Castoria has been an aid in the upbuilding of our population; an aid in the saving of babies.

And yet there are those who would ask you to try something new. Try this. Try that. Even try the same remedy for the tiny, scarcely breathing, babe that you in all your robust womanhood would use for yourself. Shame on them.

NORRIS ATTACKS DEEPLY RESENTED

Crowds At Bryan Meetings Hear Unfair Tactics Exposed.

Scottsbluff Man Tells Real Story of Record of Hitchcock.

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb., Nov. 2.—Up and down the fertile Scottsbluff Bluff valley from Minatare to Mitchell, every hour within sight of the picturesque mountain of the county's name, hovering over the plains, Charles W. Bryan, democratic candidate for governor, brought the gospel of relief Wednesday to a distressed people.

In a mood to hear such a message with the main much beet crop deflated from $12 to $8 a ton, and the potatoes for which Scotts Bluff county is famous not worth digging out of the ground, country and town folk heeded the appeal of the Bryan band wife here announcing his meetings: "Bring your tax receipts and listen."

Mr. Bryan, talked to the crowds at Minatare, Mitchell, here, to Gering and at Wartrick's parade at night, where 800 filled the spacious hall.

Seizing the occasion of the Bryan meeting to reach the people Senator Hitchcock's friends today set the people right on the senator's record, which Senator George W. Norris, campaigning for the administration, had misrepresented in a recent address at Scottsbluff.

Tom Morrow, president Scottsbluff conference at Mitchell, Gering and Scottsbluff preceded Mr. Bryan with a fifteen minute talk in which he showed that the "record" cited by Norris dealt only with the 1917 emergency revenue bill to war purposes.

"Can't Fool the People."

Senator Norris' arraignment of Senator Hitchcock on his vote on the war revenue bill in 1917 and on certain matters, Morrow said, could fool people who scrutinize the facts." Mr. Morrow said: "Norris at Scottsbluff declared in order to sh w that Senator Hitchcock opposed certain amendments to the bill an emergency war measure which must be passed promptly, and he did not tell you he himself voted against the bill on final passage.

"Senator Norris confused his attacks and in the 1917 bill and made several different issues of the campaign.

His speech was to persuade voters to turn down Senator Hitchcock who opposed the repeal of the Sutrus and Burkett taxes and to put in the republican administration in favor of it we will not be pressed for additional taxes to repeal the tax."

The purpose of Norris' program in the senate, Morrow said, Hitchcock because the country is too high enough and in the next voting voters not to support Hitchcock who opposed the repeal of these taxes was shown.

"Senator Norris tried to tell you that Hitchcock made a mistake when he failed to vote on his (Norris) bill to appropriate for the government building of the Panhandle done a bill that was lost. But Senator Norris introduced the bill as a political measure to catch votes and he didn't know that the water users of this district were opposed to the government owning the dams. As it stands, the users will be the bonding writers of the dam and the users are not protected by any price rights in Wyoming as it was in the Kearney district.

"Senator Norris did not tell you that he was done nothing for this district, while Senator Hitchcock came to Scottsbluff when the Minatare irrigation district was in danger over bonds held by Wall street interests and that the senator saved this district $1,000,000 which the big interests that Norris is always seeking to fight would otherwise have gotten."

Shumway In Party

Grant L. Shumway, former state senator, unsuccessful democratic candidate for state auditor, was one of the visiting party in charge of Mr. Bryan's itinerary in the county Wednesday. Mr. Bryan commended him to the voters.

In his talks Mr. Bryan showed how most of the government had increased from $1 out of 100 to $20,000,000

An Air Cruiser Caught In Storm, Is Badly Wrecked

RENO, Nev., Nov. 2.—The $25,000 sky limousine of the United States air mail officials, piloted by "Slim" Lewis and carrying Clarin Nelson, superintendent of the western air mail service division, was wrecked at Valmy, 20 miles west of Battle Mountain yesterday afternoon when forced to land in a driving sowstorm.

Both men were badly shaken and bruised, but neither was seriously injured. The ship, recently constructed at Chicago, was the pride of the division. It was elaborately fitted and furnished with every covenience for the accommodation of air mail chiefs in their flights across the continent.

by reason of the code, which transferred power from the people to an army of employes, and how at the same time the republican administration had relieved capital of taxes and saddled them on the people.

"And to cap the climax, the administration has deflated your currency removing $1,000,000,000 from circulation and left you with prices on your products cut in two, while the dollar of the big interests is worth just twice as much," Mr. Bryan said. "Legislation, both state and national has been in the interests of big business, while the common people have been crying out with pain and given no relief."

J. H. Ray, superintendent of schools, dismissed the Minatare high school and the students in a body went to hear Mr. Bryan in Harshman's hall. Many of the stores closed for the occasion.

Big Reception at Mitchell.

One of the most impressive receptions Mr. Bryan has received in the whole campaign came at Mitchell when the clever and talented boys and girls high school band of thirty pieces, directed by Principal J. L. Irwin of the Mitchell high school, welcomed him to town with a concert at the main business intersection.

The high school was dismissed for the occasion and the pupils furnished another surprise when they marched in columns of squads, two companies of girls and a company of boys over a hundred strong, to the open air meeting, and with military precision fell in company formation before Mr. Bryan's automobile. Girls themselves were captains of the girls' companies and their organizations were perfectly drilled. Credit for the showing belongs to J. A. Gentry, superintendent of schools.

Mr. Bryan stopped long enough at Scottsbluff at noon on his way through for a dinner at the Lincoln hotel, given by prominent democrats, including Mayor Theodore D. Thresh, William Morrow state committeeman of Scotts Bluff county; Grant L. Shumway, democratic candidate for state land commissioner; H. M. Hadden, and others.

While he was eating, a committee of Rotarians, holding their weekly luncheon at the hotel upstairs, waited on him and asked him to make a brief five minute talk before the organization, which he did.

In the absence of John Boatsman of Morrill, democratic county chairman, Mrs. Estelle Boatsman, his wife, joined the Bryan party at Scottsbluff, and did the honors for her husband, although strictly speaking, she has been a republican herself.

"I'm supporting the democratic ticket this year, just the same" she said.

Mr Bryan talked to over 200 on the streets of Gering at 4 p. m., a large proportion of whom were factory workers. Mr. Bryan paid a tribute to Editor Maupin, who introduced him, and declared him to be worthy of the votes of the people to elect him to congress for the short term.

"He served the Commoner faithfully for eleven years in Lincoln, and I can recommend him to you as a man who will look after your interests as faithfully in Washington," Bryan said.

WENT TO THE DOCTOR AND THE DOCTOR SAID:

"Those pains around your heart after eating are caused by gas pressure from the stomach. That shortness of breath and palpitation can also be traced to the same source. Your fingers, arms and limbs feel numb and "go to sleep" because the gas pressure restricts circulation in various parts of your body.

SOLVING TAXATION PROBLEMS BY RADIO.

The failure of R. B. Howell of Omaha to take the voters of Nebraska into his confidence on the dominant issues of the campaign is the outstanding feature of the campaign which is now drawing to a close Nebraska has seen a great many campaigns but never before has it been treated to the spectacle of a man aspiring to represent it in the United States senate, steadfast in a refusal to state his position on the single paramount issue.

In all fairness it may be said that the republican candidate started the campaign late in August and early in September by discussing radio development, municipal ownership and monopolistic tendencies in government. He never deviated from that course. All efforts to have him frankly outline his position on the "robber tariff" and taxation problems failed for he deliberately chose to ignore those things which have placed a tremendous burden on the farmers and wage earners of Nebraska.

In the same spirit of fairness it cannot be said that he could have pursued the course which the voters had a right to expect. He was attempting to blend irreconcilable elements behind his candidacy and it required an exhibition of tight rope walking which must naturally prove repugnant. On the one wing was A. C. Townley, of nonpartisan league connections, who made a tour in Nebraska in behalf of Mr. Howell. Mr. Townley's socialistic experiments in North Dakota are too well known to call for discussion. What promise had the republican candidate made Mr. Townley or what action had he taken to lead Mr. Townley to believe that Howell's elevation to the United States senate would advance the interests of the radical elements merged back of Townley? On the other wing were the Omaha Bee and Nelson B. Updike. Mr. Updike's activities are also too well known in Nebraska to call for elaboration. What secret pact had Mr. Howell drawn with the conservative wing of the republican party to induce The Bee and Mr. Updike to throw his newspaper and his influence into the fight to elect Townley's favorite?

In any event it is certain that the republican candidate will have to disappoint one or the other large element back of his candidacy.

In any event, however, it is not a pleasing spectacle. It breathes so much of insincerity and deceit that the honest voter can but express his disgust.

Does the republican candidate propose to permit the voters to register their sentiments on the "robber tariff" without an additional word than that he favors a "reasonable tariff?" What does he propose to do to relieve the masses in America of the three billion dollar burden which the last congress placed upon them in deliberate defiance of the press of this country, including administration papers?

Does the republican candidate for senator favor the sales tax—a fact admitted by N. P. Dodge, who is his chief political lieutenant? The sales tax would also place on Mr. Ultimate Consumer a burden of taxation equal, if not greater than the burden of the robber tariff. The republican candidate knows this, and Mr. Dodge knows it, but he glibly announces that Mr. Howell would probably favor a sales tax. Was that the price which Mr. Howell had to pay for support from some of the administration forces?

What does the republican candidate propose to do on these taxation problems. As the representative of the party in power will he calmly lend his efforts towards completing the program to shift the taxation burdens from the shoulders of the rich to the shoulders of the poor—a program which has already been partially realized under the sting of the administration whip and which is to be completed unless rebuked by the voters in the election next Tuesday? Does the republican candidate propose to settle these problems by radio?

By his actions in the senate and by his public utterances the voters of Nebraska know where Senator Hitchcock stands on the "robber tariff." They have had plenty of evidence to know that he will be fighting for its repeal. By his actions and utterances on the measure repealing the excess profits tax they know he will stand firm in a refusal to shift taxation burdens from the rich to the poor. They know that he will resist further efforts of the special interests to transfer those burdens.

The failure of Mr. Howell to speak and the magnificent record which Senator Hitchcock has made gives assurance that Nebraska will return its distinguished senior senator at the election next Tuesday.

AN OBJECT LESSON IN CODE GOVERNMENT.

"Never before in the history of Nebraska has any candidate for state office, or any political committee in his behalf, been able to reach many thousands of persons with a multitude of communications asking for their votes, just preceding an election. The enormous cost of such an undertaking, as well as the time required to do, it has heretofore been regarded as prohibitive, and any candidate who went to such expense would have placed himself thereby in the Newberry class.

But that achievement has been made possible this year, in the interest of the republican candidate for governor, by the fact that there was placed at his disposal the services of the state code machine with its several hundred employes, many of whom were pressed into campaign service for greater or less periods of time.

The Star today gives its readers the story of how Mr. C. H. Randall, political heir-apparent to Governor McKelvie, was enabled to get into the hands of thousands of automobile owners of Nebraska what purports to be a "personal letter"—but in reality produced on the state's multigraph machines with a mimeographed signature—at little or no expense to himself, himself.

Nothing could have brought more forcefully to the attention of the voters the tremendous power and resources of the vast political machine built by means of the code law, under the domination of one man—the governor of Nebraska— and employed by him and his subordinates to control the choice of his gubernatorial successor.

Until the code system was fastened upon the state, no governor ever had at his command such a gigantic political force to influence the result of an election. His machine not only has at its disposal the services of hundreds of state employes, but many of these are traveling as inspectors, examiners, agents, etc., all over Nebraska and can keep the administration at Lincoln closely and constantly informed on the political situation and developments.

Mileage books paid for by the state and automobiles owned by the state or on which it pays rental to the officials owning them make it possible to do this traveling and reporting without expense to the administration's favored candidate. Many thousands of dollars spent for postage, paper and other materials can be turned to campaign purposes without the public being any wiser

In exerting itself toelect the McKelvie administration's man as governor, the code chiefs have paid no attention to the nine-hour law for women, which it is the duty of one of their number to enforce. Women employes have done evening work, in addition to the eight hours which they are supposed to devote to the state's service, and their work day has thus been lengthened toten or eleven hours.

Do the people of Nebraska need any further illustration of the code's "efficiency" and "economy" to convince them that bureaucratid government should be thrown into the discard?

IMMIGRATION AND BIOLOGY.

Frederick C. Howe for some years Commissioner of Immigration at the Port of New York, writing in the September Scribners, foresees a time a decade hence when this country will be seriously short of unskilled workers, because immigration has been shut off. By 1923, he says, many of those now working in the mills, mines, factories and farms will have grown old. The places of three million unskilled workers must then be filled by Americans.

This is an economic argument for immigration, which, no doubt, will be advanced with great insistence and plausibility, as the gates are closed more tightly. But it is a dangerous half-truth that should be balanced and offset by evidence from the biologists and psychologists. Biology goes more deeply into this problem than does economics.

Contrast the statment of Mr. Howe with that of Lewis Madison Terman, of the University of California, in the current World's Work. Professor Terman cites the administrations of anthropologists and psychologists that there is a vast difference between the native mental capacities of races and national groups. Mental tests for example, show that the intellectual capacity of the American Indian has been greatly over-rated, even as that of the Mexican.

Now this is not merely theory and speculation. The practical point is that this country has too long not only admitted inferior racial stocks from southern Europe, but accepted them from the lower social strata.

If the United States is to maintain a fair average of blood and intelligence in its people, it must consider something besides economic motives and pressures. No adequate view of the problem is possible without taking into consideration the biological factors.

Degeneration awaits the American, if he dilutes his blood by too much infusion from inferior sources. It also awaits him, if he becomes only a brainworker, too. America, must look to its germ plasm, to its racial make-up, if it values its future and wishes to survive as a nation fit for its great mission in the world.—Minneapolis Journal.

Mr. Hall Thanks Cropsey.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 1.

To the Editor of the Star: I want to thank Treasurer Dan Cropsey for his compliments and the good assistance he and his administration have given me in my campaign for the place this year.

Mr. Cropsey calls attention to my published report of 1918 and says that I charged some banks of the state 8 per cent on state deposits, while I let my own bank at Franklin down with a 3 per cent rate and that in various cases different banks were charged different rates of interest—some 3 per cent, some 4 per cent and some 5 per cent.

These compliments coming at this time when I am a candidate for the same office to succeed him, I take it, are extended for the purpose of giving the impression that all the banks in the state which were paying less than five per cent, were being favored by myself as to the rate of interest. These compliments are given to create a prejudice in the minds of some of the bankers and people of the state because I am a candidate.

The funds deposited in the Franklin Bank, referred to in my report were funds belonging to the Vocational Educational fund of the United States. This fund was not in any way a part of the state funds. This fund belonged to the United States and the interest on this fund went to the United States and not to the state of Nebraska as Mr. Cropsey stated. The state treasurer was only the custodian of this fund and was required to keep it separate from the state funds. The account was an active account and the same rate of interest was paid to the United States as the banks of Nebraska paid to the state on the active accounts.

During my first term and for some years before I was state treasurer, there was a uniform charge of three per cent made on all deposits of state funds. During my second term, I made the announcement that thereafter I would deposit the state funds with the banks which offered the highest and best rate of interest on daily balances of such deposits for on inactive accounts. Following this announcement, the banks began to offer higher rates than three per cent for a deposit, some three and one-half per cent, some four per cent and in every instance, the bank offering a higher rate than I was receiving from some other bank, was given a deposit at the highest rate. This bidding went on until I went out of office in January 1919 and was succeeded by Mr. Dan Cropsey. The rate of interest gradually worked up until at the time I went out of office, there was about $800,000.00 in inactive bank accounts drawing five per cent interest, and $30,000 at four per cent and four and one-half per cent, and the balance in the active funds at three per cent.

I resent and deny that I made favorites out of any banks of the state. The deposit was drawn out of my brother's bank at Verdon and given to some other bank for the same reason that other changes were made. Other banks offered to pay more than his bank was paying or would offer to pay. He was sorry to lose the deposit and I was sorry to take it from him but I followed the rule I had laid down. I did the same with the bank at Naponee where I am stockholder. I took the deposit from it because it was not paying as high a rate as others offered.

My political friends and banker friends all over the state begged of me not to let the banks bid up the rate of interest on state deposits but I did it because I thought it was fair and right and because I knew it would make the state an increase of many thousand of dollars from banks deposits and it did, not only during my term but ever since, I went out of the office.

Now for a comparison of the four years of George E. Hall's administration with four years of Dan Cropsey's administration as state treasurer.

Mr. Cropsey has been a good state treasurer. He will admit that, so, it will not be necessary to prove it.

Mr Cropsey has done all of the things that I was doing and to which he calls your attention. He left the United States deposit in the Franklin bank at the three per cent rate of interest for a long time. He charged other banks of the state various rates of interest from three per cent to five per cent for a time, the same as I did. Mr. Cropsey's four years in office fairly shines with a good showing from "interest received" on state deposits. But I take the full credit for all the interest he has received over three per cent. Let us see,—did he continue to let the banks bid for the deposit. He did not. Not only did he discontinue the bidding by the banks and best rate of interest but a short time after he went into office, he wrote letters to the banks which were paying five per cent and lowered the rate to four per cent. By this one act, he cut down the "interest received" income of the state $8,000 per year or $32,000.00 for his four years. This is the difference of one per cent on the $800,000 of five per cent deposits which I turned over to him. But his funds on hand have run much larger during the past four years than while I was in office. Much of the time, he has had over $3,000,000. I think Mr. Cropsey could have easily kept $1,500,000 on deposits of five per cent, if so, he has lost for the state, one per cent of $15,000,000 per year on this amount or $60,000 in four years. I doubt if Mr. Corpsey would have gotten more than three per cent out of any deposit while he has been treasurer if I had not changed the system ahead of him. The increase of one per cent over the three per cent which he has received is due to work and methods used by myself while I was there.

I have answered Mr. Cropsey and compared the two administrations simply to show the facts and let the people judge for themselves.

Respectfully,
GEORGE E. HALL.

Can This Be True?

Pawnee City, Neb., Nov. 1.

To the Editor of the Star: Mr. McKelvie butchered a hog the other day and left it hanging between the cribs over night. The next morning half of his hog was gone. He went in and told his wife that a democrat came among and stole half of his hog. She says: "How did you know it was a democrat? He says "If it had been a republican he would have taken all of it."

Stage and Screen Stars Headliners On Orpheum Bill

Stage stars and screen stars alike share honors in this week's Orpheum bill which is indeed "a whale of a show" as Manager Willis Jackson puts it. Ley Dockstader's fame is known throughtout the land and he is still the same genuine entertainer. In keeping with the rapid strides of modern invention, this veteran of the stage, appears this year "broadcasting laughter to the audience" through the individual radio wireless telephone. He "talks through his hat" to President Harding at the white house, to Henry Ford and to Kemal Pasha, way over in Turkey.

Henry B. Walthall and Mary Charleson, of the cinema world, present a dramatic playlet, "The Unknown," which brings back memories of the sad days of the late war. Mr. Walthall told the first night audience that he had long felt that there was a place in vaudeville for serious acting and that his company was endeavoring to demonstrate this rather than to prolong the memories of the world conflict .

And then there's Emma Carus, who puts a whole lot of fun into the evening's entertainment, assisted by J. Walter Leopold, "Singing Their Own Songs." The audience shows its appreciation of her offering and she reciprocates with a nice boost for Lincoln and its vaudeville fans.

Ernest Anderson and Marjorie Burt have a clever little act "The Dizzy Heights." They are newlyweds spending their honeymoon in the Alps.

Dave Roth does it all by himself and he gets a big hand. His versatile impressions are very good.

Percy Oakes and Pamela Delour are a pair of dancing artists who would do credit to a bill made up entirely of stars. Their "cyclonic dances" are excellent. The Hanako trio, novelty entertainers, open the program.

Keep Lincoln an Orpheum town.

Republican Expense For a Single Week Exceeds Receipts

Today's statement shows receipts of $19,725.50 since the previous report, and expenditures of $31,581.62.

The principal disbursement during the week was $25,992.65 to the National Republican Publishing company of Washington for an October printing bill.

FORMER ENGINEER KILLED BY TRAIN

Mangled Remains of George W. Bell Found Beside Track.

(Special to The Star.)

ALLIANCE, Neb., Nov. 2.—The lifeless body of George W. Bell, 45, a former resident of this city and for fifteen years a locomotive engineer for the Burlington, running between Alliance and Seneca, was found lying beside the railroad tracks at Kelso siding, five miles west of Seneca, at 6:30 a. m. by the crew of a freight train. He had been run over by a train, presumably a freight that had passed about three hours earlier. His legs were nearly severed and his body was badly cut and bruised. He had evidently been instantly killed.

According to railroad officials Bell had become addicted to the use of liquor and was discharged about a month ago, following a small wreck which is said to have occurred through his failure to obey orders. He had been living with his wife and daughter on a homestead near Seneca.

Apparently no one witnessed the accident and railroad officials are at a loss to know why he should have been near the tracks at so early an hour in the morning.

Failure to Nurse Babies Is Decried By a Specialist

That children of foreign-born parents generally are healthier and stronger than the children of native born Americans and that the schools of Nebraska are full of overdrawn, puny children were other statements made by Dr. Hedger, who declared that unless Americans change their attitude on subject, a race suicide problem equalling Belgium's problem of rehabilitation faces the country."

Christmas Tree At Hastings to Be Community Affair

HASTINGS, Neb., Nov. 2.—Plans for a municipal Christmas tree were strongly endorsed at the meeting of the Community council, organized early this spring to regulate charity in Hastings. Superintendent A. H. The council hopes to be able to place gifts for a large number of children upon the tree.

George Durkee was elected chairman of the employment committee whose duties are to keep track of jobs that may be available so that those in need of work may be directed to them.

The Community council organized shortly after Christmas when it was discovered that much misdirected charity at the holiday season had lead to four families being aided by eight different organizations, and that two of the families were not in need of assistance.

Alliance Man Is Arrested With His Wife and Daughter.

(Special to The Star.)

ALLIANCE, Neb., Nov. 2.—Mrs. Katy Koch living just outside the city limits, and her parents Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Rohrbach who live in town, were arraigned in county court for preliminary hearing on charges of illegal manufacture of intoxicating liquor and possession of a still pleaded not guilty and were held over to the district court under bonds of five each.

County and city officers first raided the Koch place, where they say they seized sixty-five gallons of fruit and rye mash, which Mrs. Koch claimed she was using to make beer for home consumption. A few hours later they raided the home of her parents, where they claim to have found a complete still consisting of a copper coil and two copper boilers with cooking apparatus, together with twenty gallons of mash and a half-gallon jug full of moonshine whiskey. The still, it was alleged, buried beneath a wood and cob pile in the yard and the liquor found buried several inches deep near the house.

Mr. Rohrbach is a well-to-do retired farmer. He gave a personal bond for himself, his wife and their daughter to appear for trial at the November term of district court.

WHO IS A PROGRESSIVE?

A comparison of the records of the candidates for U. S. Senate

GILBERT M. HITCHCOCK, personally, and with his great newspaper, the World-Herald, has supported every progressive, constructive and forward-looking law that has been passed by the Nebraska legislature during the past thirty years. Important among these are the Primary law, the law guaranteeing bank deposits, the Pure Food law, the Anti-discrimination law, legislation regulating freight and passenger rates and legislation permitting municipalities to acquire and own their public utilities.

As United States Senator and Representative in Congress, he voted for and supported the creation of Postal Savings Banks, the Federal Reserve act, the Federal Farm Loan Bank, the Federal Rural Credits law, the Soldiers' Adjusted Compensation, the Underwood Tariff law. He voted for the constitutional amendment providing for direct election of United States Senators, and for the constitutional amendment providing for an Income tax. He has consistently supported at all times legislation in favor of a small army and a small navy. He has and still favors world peace. He voted against the Fordney-McCumber Tariff law. He voted against seating Newberry, and will vote to unseat Newberry when this question is called up again. He opposed amendments to the Revenue law which would relieve the rich in paying excess profits.

Senator G. M. Hitchcock

Personally, and through his great newspaper, he is opposed to the present Code System now in force in Nebraska and favors its repeal. He is opposed to the new Revenue law and favors its repeal, and is in favor of an economical and efficient administration of the state's business. As United States Senator, he favors whatever legislation is necessary to further the interests of agriculture, and whatever legislation is necessary to do justice to labor, and to enact laws and administer the government in such a way as to put business on a sound basis.

The Republican Candidate's Record

The republican candidate for United States Senator bases his claim of being a progressive on the fact that he favors municipal ownership of water and gas. For years Senator Hitchcock, in person and through his newspaper, the World-Herald, has supported all legislation that would give Omaha and other cities the right to acquire, own and operate water and gas plants. The World-Herald, in season and out of season, has stood consistently and effectively for the right of cities to own the water and gas plant. The republican candidate has been an employee of the city of Omaha, drawing a salary of $10,000 per year, and, because of this, is personally and directly interested in a financial way in the public ownership of its utilities. If the republican candidate is a progressive because he favors municipal ownership of water, it necessarily follows that Senator Hitchcock, who has been his principal supporter in Omaha on this particular issue, is likewise a progressive.

The republican candidate for Senator is now and during practically all of his life in Nebraska has been a public official. His business is that of holding office. At the present time he is the most highly paid public official in Nebraska.

The only record there is regarding the views of the republican candidate for Senator on public questions appears in the Senate Journal of Nebraska for 1903, when he was a State Senator from Douglas County. This record discloses that:

1. During the entire session of the legislature he did not cast a single vote in favor of the agricultural and stock-raising interests of Nebraska.
2. That he side-stepped and dodged on practically every important bill that was up for passage during that session.
3. That when he did vote it was invariably on the side of the corporations and selfish interests that controlled that legislature.

Among others, the following are examples:

1. The republican candidate for Senator opposed the Brady Bill (S. F. 102), which was an Act that would have given relief to the farmers and independent elevators in Nebraska in their unequal fight against the grain trust, line elevators and the railroads. While he was doing what he could to prevent its passage and was using his position as a State Senator to prevent the farmers' elevators from obtaining legislation to which they were entitled, Senator Hitchcock's paper, the World-Herald, was making a fight in favor of the Brady Bill.
2. After the republican candidate had helped to kill the Brady Bill, and the Ramsey Bill (H. R. 791), which was similar to the Brady Bill, but less effective, and not so far-reaching, came up for final passage, he was present in the Senate and did not cast his vote either way. This was the only piece of legislation passed in that session which was directly in favor of the agricultural interests of Nebraska. The republican candidate for senator was not progressive and forward-looking enough to cast his vote in favor of that legislation.
3. When Senate File No. 37, which was a law requiring railroad corporations to provide suitable waiting rooms and other facilities for passengers, was up for passage, the republican candidate was one of three senators that was present and did not vote either way.
4. When Senate File 196, which was an Act requiring railroad corporations to sell interchangeable mileage books that could be used by the purchaser and all members of his family, was up for passage, the republican candidate was one of seven senators that was present in the Senate and did not vote.

Senate Files 195 and 57 were the only bills that regulated railroads that came up for passage during that session. The republican candidate for Senator was not progressive enough to cast his vote in favor of either one of these meritorious laws. Senator Hitchcock, through his newspaper and personally, since the days when the Newberry Bill was passed, has consistently supported all efforts that have been made to reduce freight and passenger rates and to pass whatever legislation was necessary to relieve the freight and passenger payers from excessive rates and burdens.

The republican candidate for Senator introduced S. F. No. 144, which was a concurrent resolution requesting Nebraska members of congress to vote for appropriations for a larger navy. He has discreetly kept quiet in the pending campaign as to his views on the size of the armies and navies. But this resolution discloses that his naval education at Annapolis has caused him to favor a large navy.

Senator Hitchcock, by his votes and through his newspaper, the World-Herald, now and at all times has opposed and will oppose a large navy and a large army.

When House Roll No. 167, which was a concurrent resolution memorializing congress to pass an amendment providing for the election of senators by direct vote of the people, came up for passage, the republican candidate for Senator was absent. Although this very progressive and forward-looking resolution was voted for on two different days, the republican candidate for senator was absent on both roll calls.

House Roll No. 104 was an Act to provide a department in the Insane Asylum for the treatment of inebriates and those addicted to the use of liquors and other narcotics. When this bill came up for final passage, the republican candidate for Senator was one of the seven that voted against its passage.

Senate File No. 43, was a bill that provided that the landlord shall have a lien on the crops of the tenant, the odious law which is known as the "Landlord's Lien Bill." The republican candidate for Senator was one of the twelve senators that voted in favor of this law.

When House Roll No. 88, which was an Act to prevent the desecration of the flag or using it for commercial purposes, came up for passage, the republican candidate for Senator was one of five men who were present in the senate and refused to vote, although he knew that the reason why this law was being passed was for the purpose of prohibiting an Omaha brewery from using the flag as an advertisement on its beer bottles.

When House Roll No. 329, which was an Act defining the crime of wife and child desertion came up for passage, the republican candidate for Senator was one of six Senators that were present and did not vote, although he knew at that time that this legislation was necessary to compel the slacker husband to care for his wife, and that it was necessary to invoke the criminal laws of this state to compel some fathers to support their offspring.

When Senate File No. 83, which was a Pure Food Law, came up for passage, the republican candidate for Senator was present and did not vote for it, although he knew that this important piece of legislation was necessary to protect the public. But, when Senate File No. 125, which was an Act to establish a military code and to provide for the organization, government and compensation of militia was up for passage, he was present and voted for it.

An examination of the Senate Journal discloses that, although he was present when these very important bills were up for passage, he refused to go on record as voting either way. Then, as now, he dodged and side-stepped.

The public records and the public life of Nebraska show that Senator Hitchcock is a constructive, forward-looking and sensible progressive; that he has stood for those things in government that were best for the great mass of our people, both in the state and nation; that he has neither dodged nor side-stepped.

His claim to progressiveness is not based on self-serving declarations made by himself. It is a record of things done; while the legislative record of his republican opponent discloses that he is not a progressive; that he is not in favor of forward-looking, constructive legislation. When he had an opportunity to vote on these questions, he either voted against them or refused to vote at all. He did not cast a single vote during the whole session in favor of any forward-looking or progressive law.

The query is, however:

Who Is the Progressive?

MINERVA'S MAIL
Take Your Troubles to Minerva

Excuses Are Many.

Dear Minerva: I think it is terrible the way young people now days are staying away from the churches, particularly young married people it seems. As chairman of a Sunday school class in one of our churches I recently sought to enlarge the class and personally made calls upon a great many young people whose names were on the church registry, but who are never seen in church and do not belong to a Bible class. The excuses that were given me:

"We have no one to leave the baby with," is a favorite. Yet these people can always find someone to leave the baby with when they want to go to a card party, dance or show. And for that matter the churches mostly provide attendants to watch over children while their parents are in church. And there are any number of good church members who train their children to remain quietly in their seats during the service. Our good mothers and grandmothers all did this way.

Sometimes the woman will say she is planning to come to church as soon as she gets her clothes fixed up. As if it were necessary to have finery to wear to church. Anyway they have clothes enough to wear other places.

Many times they say the man of the house needs Sunday for rest and recreation. An hour in church would do more to put their minds in order for the week's work than a day spent at golf or loafing or fishing or automobile riding.

Speaking of automobiles, they were not once mentioned as a reason for non-church attendance. But nevertheless they are a vital factor in keeping the young people from Sunday worship. They tempt people to go on all-day Sunday picnics and drives and church is neglected.

"We always sleep late on Sunday," said one young woman as if that were the most valid excuse in the world. Her parents were founders of the church too and sacrificed personal desires to keep it going in the days of its infancy. So in this case as in many others it was not lack of home training that was responsible.

My canvass made me very depressed. What can be done to win people back into the churches? We can all of us find excuses for not doing that for which we have no interest. So what can be done to develop the desire for Christianity in the hearts of our young people? What will their homes be like in the future, based on an unChristian non-church-going beginning? I would like to hear from readers who have ideas on this subject.—DISCOURAGED.

No Separate Code.

Dear Minerva: Do you think it is undignified for a married woman to play tennis and volleyball? I was fond of athletics when in school. For several years after marriage I lived a sedentary, sedate life and was kept busy trying to be the kind of wife others thought I should be. Then some of my old friends persuaded me to join a basketball team last winter and I had the best time. My husband's relatives thought it terrible. Then the past summer I played tennis, went on hikes and camping trips with the girls. It raised a perfect storm of protest. My mother-in-law told me it was beneath the dignity of a married woman to romp like that. And that besides I did not have time to waste and that if I had extra time I should be sewing or canning, and if I wanted exercise I'd better do my own washing, which I send out. Even my neighbors have made cutting remarks about my never being at home and "acting like a young girl" and such things. So I have come to the point of having doubts about myself. Am I acting foolishly to go in for such things? I don't know any other married woman who does that sort of thing. I don't care much for the things that most married women enjoy, bridge, gossip, afternoon bridge, dress, missionary societies, etc. I am not those things when I'm too old for the others, I feel so much younger and happier since I have quit trying to act so awfully matronly. What do you think?—A Wife.

A. I think you would be foolish to deprive yourself of any of the healthful activities you mention just because you happen to have acquired a husband and a home in the years behind you.

A special code of manners for married women is quite as obsolete as the bonnet for middle-aged women. The married girl may have quite as good a time as the unmarried girl, and continue her sports and hobbies. True she has responsibilities which sometimes interfere. But so long as she can find the time to play there is no reason why she should not do so. The woman who mopes about her house all day long finding work to do when none presents itself is narrow minded. The wise housewife does her work on schedule works efficiently and systematically while she work. Then when she has done this work outlined for that day she quits. There is always work which can be done in a mismanaged home, but the housewife needs her relaxation, her exercise, her companions, her play quite as much as anyone else needs these things. When there are children it is harder to find time but more important than ever that some time be found for the mother to spend to herself and for herself.

New Basis of Trust.

Dear Minerva: About five months ago I met a young man. He was twenty years old and I am seventeen. He is the brother of my girl chum and he seemed to be very respectful. We started going together and he treated me as a gentleman should. But as I me went on I found he was not honest and that he did not always tell me the truth. But I had fallen in love with him and I pardoned him. Not long ago I saw him out with a married woman who did not have a good reputation. Since then I have not dated with him. I did not think I really loved him but Minerva since we do not go out together any more I have found out I really loved him.

I feel like I should go with others to forget him but I find that when I come to make a date I always back out some way. I know he doesn't go with anyone else. And Minerva this is the trouble. I am the one who got mad and I feel like I can't be without him. I would like to write him but would it be the right thing for me to do? Should I apologize for getting angry at him. How should I go about it, see him in person or write to him?

Minerva I am trusting you, will you help me? I am waiting for your advice, so please don't throw this away without answering. For I really love him.—K. A. S.

A. If you cannot tell this man, don't for the sake of your future happiness, consider yourself in love with him. Love which does not have a base of trust and respect, is not sincere love.

It is possible, of course, that you have mistrusted him unjustly. The fact of his being seen with a married woman and with one not altogether honored, should not necessarily contaminate him in your eyes. Such an event could happen quite recently enough. But be it understood in your own mind that if you know him to be underhanded and dishonest about things, he is not the man on whom you wish to lavish your love. And let the misunderstanding stand as it is. If you are convinced he is fundamentally honest though he has deceived you in minor ways, ask him to explain and renew your friendship on a new basis of trust.

Quarantine Family For Scarlet Fever

ALLIANCE, Neb., Nov. 2.—Three small children of the Ira Duskin family are ill with scarlet fever, with their parents, are under quarantine at the city pest house, just outside the city limits. One of the children is reported to be in a critical condition. Two other children of the family are being cared for elsewhere. The family is in destitute circumstances. The father worked as a farm laborer during the summer and was preparing to move with his family to Iowa, when the children were taken ill. They will be under quarantine for at least three weeks.

Does Not Think U. S. Quarreling With Englishman

BRISTOL, England, Nov. 2.—"We do not think that the United States is quarreling with her excellent friend, Great Britain, when she politely reminds us that we owe her money," said Lord Birkenhead, the lord chancellor, in a political speech here today.

"I do not see why other nations should be so sensitive on this matter of business. We ourselves are in a position to make a stern upon the bellicosities of Europe.

"On credit, by our way, stands very high."

Lord Birkenhead, who is a member of the coalition party, strongly defended the policy of the old coalition government, said Lord Birkenhead, the ex-premier of Lloyd-George.

BRAVE RAINS TO HEAR HITCHCOCK

Northeastern Nebraskans Learn Effects Of Deflation Policy.

Crowds Turn Out in Spite Of Condition Of the Highways.

HARTINGTON, Neb., Nov. 2.—When the news was broadcasted in this city last night of Senator Hitchcock's arrival, a half hour late, scores poured from their homes and places of business and when the senator began his address in the court house more than 500 were packed into the court room.

The senator and his party were forced to take the train from Wakefield. Heavy rains have continued since the first of the week, and roads are almost impassible.

Inability to make connections forced the senator to cancel his address at Laurel. He expressed great regret that the condition of the roads made this necessary, but after a long consultation, it was found that the Laurel date could not be kept without throwing other town, hours off the schedule.

A large crowd was awaiting the senator in the court room at the time his address was scheduled to start. When it was learned that his train was late, very few left their seats. Almost all remained and heard stirring addresses by Dr. W. H. Muller of Omaha and Frank O'Gara of Hartington.

Dr. Muller, in closing a clear and forceful address on state issues, paid a glowing tribute to Senator Hitchcock and his efforts in congress that have resulted in so much good for Nebraska.

Mr. O'Gara introduced the senator. "Never has a more able or scholarly man represented this or any other state in congress," he declared. "Voters, regardless of party, cannot render better or greater service to the state than by casting their ballots for him."

County Chairman John G. Gable occupied a seat on the stage along with Mr. O'Gara and the county candidates.

Delegations were present from Laurel, St. Helena and Dorcyes, Pensmont in the latter was John Fuhrman.

Among those who heard the senator's address last night were the Rev. Ferdinand Schruetgen, the Rev. S. A. Willard, the Rev. Jens Thompson, Judge W. Bryant, Frank Trummond, secretary of the county committee, A. J. Lammers, J. G. Beste, C. M. Gates, Will O'Gara, J. P. O'Furey, editor and publisher of the Cedar County News used in several universities as an example of county journalism; Dr. Lucian Clarke, Dr. E. M. Thies, Dr. S. P. Dorsey, Dr. J. M. Johnson.

Senator Hitchcock told his audience how deflation had in a few months swept prosperity out of Nebraska and brought hard times, especially for the farmers and stockmen.

Wakefield Meeting.

WAKEFIELD, Neb., Nov. 2.—Dixon county taxpayers filled the Wakefield auditorium Wednesday morning to hear Senator Hitchcock.

He arrived shortly before noon by train and found a company of more than a hundred waiting. The senator told his hearers about the effects of deflation on Nebraska, and what they may expect in increased prices from the republican tariff. Continued applause greeted his analysis of state issues and his statement that relief could be had only by electing democratic state officers and members of the legislature.

"I predict," said he, "that Charles W. Bryan will be elected governor by the largest majority ever accorded any man chosen for this position."

Senator Hitchcock was entertained at luncheon at the Logan hotel by Wakefield and Dixon county democrats and leading citizens. A group of men prominent in business circles in northeast Nebraska met him at this time and assured him of their support.

Thomas Rawlins and Rew Mathiesen and William Kay were among those who were especially responsible for the interest taken in this function which was one of the most delightful of its kind on the senator's tour.

Satifies Temperance Head.

The senator made plain to his Wakefield friends his attitude on prohibition which he said was a settled issue in state and nation.

"I have told my friends that Senator Hitchcock's word and position on this question satisfies me," said Thomas Rawlins who for ten years was chairman of the Wakefield Temperance committee, an organization composed of representatives from each of the local churches.

"The position taken by F. A. Hildebrand to me that he is merely trying to aid the republicans in this campaign."

Mr. Rawlins was elected regent of the University of Nebraska in 1896, to fill the unexpired term of Henry Estabrook.

Andrew Mathiesen, a local business man, formerly of Omaha and Fremont, said he had followed the senator's career with interest and believed him entitled to the support of every true Nebraska man and woman.

"The senator is extremely popular," said Mr. Mathiesen.

"When Mr. Howell and Mr. Randall came to Wakefield they addressed together a mere handful of people on a street corner. Senator Hitchcock has put Nebraska on the map in congress and we must re-elect him. The tariff bill alone is enough to turn every voter against the republican candidates for congress."

John D. Haskell, a leading Wakefield republican, heard the senator's speech and personally congratulated him on the successful efforts to effect changes in the federal reserve bank law when that was passed for the benefit of the farmer and stockman.

Republicans for Senator.

At Emerson Senator Hitchcock, changing cars, met Dr. T. J. Tighe, the Rev. Mr. Williams of Arlington, and Roscoe Pierce assistant Northwestern passenger agent, Dr. G. W. Henton of Wakefield, formerly lived in Omaha.

He says that Senator Hitchcock's support here is constantly increasing.

"I talked with several republicans who heard the senator," said William Kay, committeeman, "and they were surprised to learn that declaration had been put in the republican platform. Four of them that I saw told me they would vote for Senator Hitchcock."

Labor Is Given a Severe Drubbing In the Election

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Stunned by the heavy downfall of their candidates in the municipal elections throughout England yesterday, the laborites intensified their political campaign today with the hope of making a better showing in the general election for parliament, November 15.

In yesterday's balloting, the laborites lost 148 seats which they had previously held in London and about 100 seats which they had occupied in eighty boroughs outside the capital for the most part in such large cities as Manchester, Liverpool, Birmingham, Derby, Nottingham, Plymouth, Southampton and Portsmouth.

Although nominally considered purely municipal issues, the local contests sometimes are an index to existing political feeling.

Postal savings deposits continue to shrink, but the decrease during the quarter ended September 30, was smaller than in any three months period since March 1919.

Police Search for Kleagle's Wife and Daughter, Missing

OAKLAND, Cal., Nov. 2.—While police searched bay region sanitariums for Mrs. Edgar L. Fuller and her 4-year-old daughter, the husband, a Kleagle of the Sacramento realm of Ku Klux Klan, declared his belief that they had been kidnaped by rival elements in the klan as revenge for his action in dissolving the Sacramento organization.

Fuller was in a state of collapse himself today. Tuesday at Sacramento he caused warrants to be issued for five members of the klan and announced the dissolution of the realm. He returned to his home here and found his wife and little girl missing. He made search and telegraphed relatives in Omaha, but found no trace other than that Mrs. Fuller had visited her physician and was last seen at 23rd and Broadway streets.

Klansmen in regalia were reported to have been seen near the Fuller home.

Why the Farmers Store

For a quarter of a century we have been successfully engaged in the retailing of staple general merchandise to the working men and women in Lincoln and because the bulk of our patronage is made up of farmers, our store has been styled and is known as

THE FARMER'S STORE

Our Cornhusker sales do not come about by accident, nor because of some bad luck circumstance, but are carefully and painstakingly planned each year; and are given in appreciation of the faithfulness of the great number of friends who have favored us with their patronage during all these years and with a view of gaining new friends and customers as has been our pleasant experience in years gone by.

From year to year these Cornhusker sales have grown in popularity because of the opportunities that are offered for genuine and substantial saving on the things needed for the winter season and at a time when these savings are most appreciated.

MOREHEAD TO END CONTEST AT HOME

To Make Final Appeal to Voters Of Richardson County.

(Special to the Star.)

FALLS CITY, Neb., Nov. 2.—Ex-Governor John H. Morehead will close his campaign for congressman from the First district with a speech at the democratic headquarters in Falls City Monday evening. Preceding this final effort, he will share the platform with Charles W. Bryan at the Lincoln auditorium Friday evening.

Greater than his ambition to be congressman is his desire to carry his home county, Richardson, by an appreciable majority, according to his friends, and for this reason he will make his final appeal to the voters of this district. Regardless of the outcome of the election, this will probably be his last political campaign. The former state executive has given the greater part of his past twenty years toward public srvice and is beginning to feel the strain.

Despite the circulars sent out by certain ex-service men of Lincoln making personal appeals to American Legion men in behalf of Walter L. Anderson, the former governor is confident of polling the bulk of the ex-service men's votes. The ex-service men know how Morehead stands on questions vital to themselves. They also know how the national administration has treated them. Coupled with the fact that Captt. Anderson's service during the war was confined to the "Battle of Lincoln" Morehead cannot see how the republican candidate can expect to gain the war veterans' support.

They expect to re-enter the hotel business in some larger city.

Rheumatism

"I Had Sharp Pains Like Lightning Flashes Shoot Through My Joints."

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had It

In the year of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Sub-Acute Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who are thus afflicted known for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, but such relief as I obtained was only temporary. Finally I found a treatment that cured me completely and such a pitiful condition has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, even bed-ridden, some of them seventy to eighty years old, and the results were the same as in my own case.

I want every sufferer from any form of muscular and sub-acute (swelling at the joints) rheumatism, to try the great value of my improved "Uloma Treatment" for its remarkable healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address, and I will send it free to try. After you have used it, and it has proven itself to be that long-looked for means of getting rid of such formers of rheumatism, you may send the price of it, One Dollar, but understand I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer, when relief is thus offered you free. Don't delay. Write today.

All of the bouts will be refereed by Rev. D. J. Claim They Were Robbed On Train

(Special to The Star.)

ALLIANCE, Neb., Nov. 2.—Declaring they had lost every cent they had when their pocketbook was stolen on a train en route from Hooker, Okla., to Alliance, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sterling appealed to the Chamber of Commerce for assistance. Mr. Sterling said they had come to Alliance on the promise of a position, but when they arrived they found the position was not open. He said they missed their pocketbook shortly before they reached here. The Chamber of Commerce secured temporary work for Mr. Sterling and defrayed the expense of telegraphing to his mother.

Fremont May Do Its Own Paving

(Associated Press.)

FREMONT, Neb. Nov. 2.—A proposition of laying its own paving in the future was discussed by the city council and some of the members are in favor of adopting it. Since the city has its own engineer and an ample supply of labor, Councilman F. A. Hick declared he could see no reason why the undertaking should not "go over big." He believed that a good deal of money could be saved and that the city would be assuded a high quality of paving mixture.

The council adopted a petition in favor of the pavement of H street from Sixth to Tenth.

HIGH SCHOOL CONTROL BOARD MAKES IMPORTANT RULINGS

NORTH PLATTE BACK IN RACE

Board of Control Rules That Lexington Game Be Given To 1921 Champs.

Purdy, Beatrice Star Quarter, Declared Ineligible For Remaining Games.

The Nebraska high school athletic board of control took a hand in the championship football race this week with a pair of important rulings on eligibility which affects materially the present standing of two elevens in the race for the interscholastic pigskin.

The two eligibility rulings:

That the game played between Lexington and North Platte high schools and won by Lexington be declared a forfeit and that North Platte be declared winner.

That Everett Purdy who has been playing quarterback for Beatrice high school be declared ineligible for further participation in high school sport.

1921 Champs In Race.

The first ruling brings North Platte back into the race for the state title. With the Lexington game awarded by forfeit, North Platte has a clear slate of victories. North Platte had protested the game on the grounds Lexington had used players over twenty-one years of age.

Purdy was declared ineligible for participation as a member of teams in baseball tournaments at which a purse was posted and give; teams participating and in tournaments for a money prize. Secretary W. G. Brooks of the board of control states that Purdy was not declared ineligible for professionalism.

The games which Beatrice has won this season were not declared forfeited. No action in that regard was taken by the board of control.

RED AND BLACK PROSPECTS DROP

Outlook Gloomy In Lincoln Hi Camp; Injuries Cripple Squad for Central.

The football outlook at Lincoln high school is a gloomy one this week. With Omaha Central, one of the strong opponents of the season, slated to oppose the Red and Black on the Omaha rectangle Saturday afternoon, stock at the capital city school has fallen far below par.

Rainy weather and injuries account for the sudden descent of Lincoln spirit. Kelly, Bass and Thomas have not been out for practice since the Tech game in which Lincoln narrowly escaped a defeat. The inclement weather has prevented Coach W. H. Browne from rounding the substitutes into fit shape to fill the shoes of the three missing gridsters.

Three Badly Injured.

Kelly is almost certain to be missing from the lineup Saturday. He has two broken ribs and it is doubtful if he will be in shape to oppose the Centralites. Bass and Thomas are lugging bad knees which has kept them out of practice this week. Their participation in the Central game is also doubtful.

Durnsch, husky tackle, Krieg, fullback, and "Jug" Brown, quarterback, are also on the hospital list but have been limping through the light workouts on the muddy gridiron. Bauers, heavy guard, left the Tech game with a sprained ankle but will be able to get in action part of the Saturday game.

The Lincoln Reserves will accompany the first squad to Omaha to meet the Central Reserves in the curtain-raiser. The following second stringers will make the trip: Stan Lewis, McBride, Hunt, Goodfoss, Watkins, Yorty, Warde, Teal, Marx, Miller, Buechner, Reans, W. Brown, DesJardien, Witte.

UNSAVORY ASPECT TO BRITTON FIGHT

Walsh Says Champ Stripped of Title Under Rather Queer Circumstances.

MULDOON SAYS NIX ON COMMENT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—"I refuse to be interviewed," was the rather testy answer William Muldoon, chairman of the New York state athletic commission vouchsafed today in reply to a question as to why bets on the welterweight champion bout between Jack Britton and Mickey Walker were declared off before the fight began.

"Last night's affair is over," he added. "It is a closed incident."

"Then there will be no investigation of the bout by the commission?"

"Absolutely none," was the heated reply.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

(International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Under rather unseemly circumstances, Jack Britton was stripped of his world's welterweight title by a young person known as Mickey Walker, of Elizabeth, N. J., after fifteen questionable rounds at Madison Square Garden last night.

To the writer, the fight appeared to bear an unsavory aspect. Perhaps it was quite all right. It is hoped for the sake of the boxing game in this locality that it was.

A half hour before the bout, a prominent fighter told the writer the odds had changed from 1 to 3 on Britton to 9 to 5 on Walker and that all bets would be declared off from the ringside. The so-called wise money, it is alleged, was down at those odds. The really educated money, upon investigation said that Britton would be knocked out in the tenth round.

Punch to Shoulder?

Perhaps it was a mere coincidence that Britton was on his hands and knees, taking a count from what appeared to be a terrible punch on the shoulder, when the bell rang, ending the round in question.

Finally the fighter's prediction was borne out when Joe Humphreys bawled from the ring that he "wished to announce on behalf of the New York state athletic commission and the management of this club that all bets on this contest were hereby called off."

This was the first time any such announcement has been made from an American ring for many, many years. Just what succession of the events may have prompted the declaration is not known for the reason the writer was unable to locate William Muldoon, chairman of the commission, and found of information on such topics, after the bout.

These observations are presented for what they may be worth. There is neither animus nor spleen behind them.

Joyride For Walker.

Judged purely on its merits, as fought, the bout was a joyride for Walker. He started pummelling his man in the first round, walking right into him, fearlessly, as though he was stepping up to an armless paralytic. In the second round he caught Britton off balance with a left hook to the jaw and Jack went down momentarily, losing his mouthpiece during the general excitement.

Starting with the third, Britton began to box like the champion he should have been and until the sixth round made Walker look silly. That was the end, however.

From then on to the fifteenth the youth was in front from gong to gong, scoring knock downs in the sixth, tenth and twelfth, and in general, having the time of his hilarious young life. At the end, there was not the slightest doubt to whom the verdict would go, some of the customers raising a cheer before Humphreys could finish his announcement.

After he proclaimed the winner, the announcer demanded: "Three cheers for the greatest champion that ever lost his title."

That was another one of those things that was never done before. All in all, it was quite a remarkable occasion.

Center—Simpson (c).
Right guard—R. Law.
Right tackle—Strahm.
Right end—Seedborg.
Quarterback—Thomas.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—Tom Milton, 1921 national automobile speed champion, who was injured in one of his eyes while racing at Corbett, near here Sunday will not lose his sight, according to attending physicians. Milton was put out of the race in the last lap when a splinter flew from the track, hitting his goggles and breaking the glass, a piece of which lodged in Milton's eye.

WESLEYAN-COTNER GAME IS FRIDAY

Methodists and Bulldogs Will Tangle On Johnson Field In Annual Clash.

Wesleyan and Cotner will tangle on Johnson Field Friday afternoon in the annual gridiron clash between the two schools. The kickoff is scheduled for 3 p. m.

Injuries have weakened both teams and Coaches McCandless of Wesleyan and Koehler of Cotner were uncertain Thursday as to the lineups which they would use in the game. The Methodist mentor is shy the services of two of his main groundgainers, Sowers and Donahue. Koehler will be minus Nichols, end, and Borgaard, husky guard.

Donahue and Sowers of the Wesleyan aggregation received injuries in the Hastings game which will keep them out of the Cotner tilt. Donahue, who has been the driving wedge in the Wesleyan line-smashing attack, was badly bruised in the tilt with the Bronchos and is carrying a bad shoulder which threatens to handicap him the remainder of the season. Sowers, whos work featured the Doane and Hastings games, is also on the injured list.

Coach Ben Koehler of the Blue and White faces a double handicap. His team has been out of condition since the Hastings game two weeks ago and the wet weather has forestalled much practice this week. Borgaard, husky guard, is out of the game for the remainder of the season while Nichols, a clever end of the Cotner aggregation, has not been out for practice this week. The other members of the squad are badly battered. The probable lineups:

University Place high school will play at Geneva this week. The Young Methodists and Geneva teams are booked to collide at Geneva Friday afternoon.

The suburbanites lost to Beatrice last week but were able to cross the Gage county team's goal-line twice, much to the satisfaction of Methodist rooters who made the trip. Geneva has a strong team this year and has been travelling at a fast gait in the last games. The probable lineups:

STUDENTS PARADE AS TEAM LEAVES

STAR PLANS FOR FOOTBALL PARTY.

When the Nebraska party left for Syracuse Thursday, "Cy" Sherman, sport editor of The Star was along. He will report the game play-by-play and down-by-down. The play-by-play details will be megaphoned to the crowd from the M street side of the Star Building.

The largest football party of the year heard the Pitt-Nebraska returns last year and it is believed the crowd Saturday will surpass that which gathered to hear of the Huskers victory over Pitt.

More than one thousand students, headed by the cadet band, paraded through a drizzling rain to give the University of Nebraska Cornhuskers a rousing sendoff on their journey to Syracuse to take part in the big East-West football game of the week.

At the station the students staged a big rally featuring Nebraska yells and songs, the band keeping the pep up with a group of snappy selections.

The crowd called upon Captain Harold Hartley for a speech and he replied by stating the Huskers were going back to Syracuse to fight and win and predicted a hard battle with the score at the close showing the Huskers the winner.

The Nebraska squad was scheduled for a brief workout this afternoon on Stagg Field, Chicago. The team will stop at Niagara Falls, N. Y. for a short workout Friday afternoon.

AGGIES TO MEET BETHANY ELEVEN

Coach Parminter's Undefeated Suburbanites to Play On Farmer Gridiron.

The Aggie high school football squad will endeavor to halt the rush of the undefeated Bethany eleven Friday afternoon when the two teams meet on the Ag gridiron. The kickoff is slated for 3:15 p. m. Parminter's suburbanites are one of the few undefeated intercollegiate teams in the state. The Bethany crew journey to Nebraska City last week and played the Otoe county eleven to a tie score.

Coach Putnam's Aggies lost to Crete last week and to University Place the preceding week. The Farmers have been doing some active work this week in preparation for the Bethanyites. The probable lineups:

Record Run In Three-Cushion

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 2.—A season's high run record of eleven was established here last night in the national three-cushion billiard league by Hugh Heal, Toledo, in a match in which he defeated Robert Cannefax of New York by a score of 50 to 44, in seventy-three innings. Cannefax had a run of five.

SYRACUSE SCOUT WARNS ORANGE

Huskers a Powerful Eleven But Syracuse Has Good Chance to Win.

(Special to The Star.)

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The Nebraska football team is the heaviest eleven ever seen on the Syracuse field since the big Orange eleven of 1915, according to John B. (Heavy") VanArman, Orange scout, who watched the Cornhuskers overwhelm Oklahoma last Saturday, and who saw them defeat Missouri the week before. Captain Hartley, in VanArman's opinion is the greatest forward passer he has ever seen.

"There have been a number of fine things said and written about the Nebraska eleven this season," he says, "and up to a week ago Saturday I thought it was bunk, but I found everything said and written about it to be true when I witnessed the Nebraska-Missouri contest.

"The team averages over 200 pounds with the center a 165 pounder, the lightest man in the outfit. The guards and tackles are well over the 200 pound mark and every player except one backfield man is six feet or over, with Noble, one of the halfbacks, standing six feet four inches in his stocking feet and weighing 197 pounds.

Hartley the Passer.

"Of course the star of the team is Hartley, the captain and fullback, who weighs close to 180 pounds and who can shoot the ball to any of his receivers just like a catcher whips the baseball to second base.

"The line is fast for such big fellows and the Missouri and Oklahoma teams could make little headway against it. Last Saturday Preston the quarterback, ran the team like a star, mixing up his plays in fine style, and during the contest he called for Hartley to throw seventeen forward passes. Out of this number fourteen were successful and 249 yards were gained by this method of attack. Hartley had plenty of time to pick out a receiver for the ball for his linemen were so clever in blocking the opponent's that he did not have to throw sometimes for thirty seconds.

"The Nebraskans were coached much better than the Missouri and Oklahoma teams and this had a great deal to do with the outcome of the game. Missouri and Oklahoma had big teams, but they lacked speed and the ability of Dawson's men.

"However, just because Nebraska has got a powerful team there is no reason for believing that Syracuse best not got a good chance to beat them for Syracuse has not had any "breaks" in the past three weeks and they may get some Saturday. It ought to be a football game from whistle to whistle and an excellent line can be had on the teams of the East and the West from this game."

Stecher Tosses Charley Cutler In Short Time

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Joe Stecher, of Nebraska, former world's heavyweight wrestling champion, last night defeated Charley Cutler of Montreal, former American titleholder, by obtaining two straight falls.

Stecher obtained the first fall with a three-quarter nelson and body scissors, after fifty-seven minutes and thirty seconds of grappling. The second and deciding fall came after but thirteen minutes more of mat work. Stecher downing his opponent with an arm lock and scissors.

Nat Pendleton, former Olympic heavyweight champion, was awarded the decision over Yussif Hussan, grappler, on a foul after an hour and fifteen minutes of wrestling. Neither obtained a fall.

In a second preliminary match, Ed Fields captured the world's middleweight title by downing Peter Jarvis, the defending titleholder, with a rolling fall in ten minutes.

Charges that rules applying to "barnstorming" exhibition baseball were violated when a team of major league "all-stars" played a local team before sailing from Vancouver for the far east recently, are being investigated by Judge K. M. Landis.

CRAWFORD TEAM STRONG IN WEST

Harold Smith's Warriors Yet To Meet Defeat; Play Alliance Friday.

(Special to The Star.)

CRAWFORD, Neb., Nov. 2.—Coach Smith's gridiron warriors of Crawford H. S., although from one of the smaller cities of the state, are attracting a great deal of attention in northwestern Nebraska. The Crawford team has won four consecutive games this season and are still in the running for the state championship of Nebraska. They have scored a total of 159 points while their goal line has been crossed but once. Wright Lathrop, one of their backfield men, is one of the fastest, shiftiest and hardest hitting halfbacks in the state while Captain Carl Anderson is a fullback of undisputed line plunging ability. Chadron—Newcastle, (Wyo.) and Gordon have already fallen before the onslaughtering attack of this backfield.

Next Friday afternoon the Crawford team meets Alliance on the latter's gridiron. Alliance has already established a reptation in state football circles by defeating Sidney, Scott bluff, Grand Island and scoring two touchdowns on Beatrice before Coach Hughes' boys were able to get started.

Arrangements are now being made for a special train to accommodate the enthusastic rooters of Crawford who expect to accompany their team to Alliane. This will be one of the most important games during this week end for western Nebraska as it will determine whether Crawford will be eliminated from the state championship race or whether they will pass to the next round in the championship ladder.

MRS. FUNK HURLS A BROADSIDE AT REPUBLICAN PARTY

Says It Is In Hands of Money Power—Raps Harding Administration.

Democratic Speaker Finds Code in Nebraska Worse Than in Illinois.

Condemning the republican party as entirely in the hands of the money power, vigorously tearing the chief campaign thunder and policies of the party, and giving a clear insight as to what each candidate really stood for, democratic and republican alike, Mrs. Antoinette Funk of Washington, D. C., spoke at the Lincoln hotel Wednesday evening. Mrs. Funk's speech impressed the audience all the more for the fact that until a few years ago she was one of the leaders of the republican party.

"The party of Lincoln is dead, it has become the party of Penrose and of special privilege," Theodore Roosevelt's words, were quoted by Mrs. Funk and formed the keynote of her entire talk.

Mrs. Funk told of how she had been a republican for years, and had campaigned for that party for years, but how she had finally changed when she heard presidential nominee Hughes say that every law passed by the democratic congress, under a democratic president, would have to be struck from the statute books. Even as a republican, Mrs. Funk had admired the work of this country's, and took exception to Mr. Hughes' words. The repeal of the child labor law and other measures passed by this congress was not to be thought of.

The wealthy men of the country, Mrs. Funk said, found it necessary to have a finger on the pulse of the government of the country, and the situation today shows how clearly this was done.

Two years ago in a speech in Indianapolis, President Harding pictured a nation in dire distress, an unhappy people unable to provide themselves with the fundamentals of life, should the democratic party be again in power. Mr. Harding's prophecy has come true, but under a republican, not a democratic administration. Mr. Harding's foresight was remarkable and his picture has become a reality. He promised unreservedly that this situation would be averted if the republicans, with their superior statecraft, should be in power.

Promised Tax Reduction.

Mr. Harding, in his speech, said that he would not assume the powers which are usually supposed to be exercised by a president, but that he would gather around him the best minds of the country.

He promised without reservation that taxes would be reduced 25 per cent, when he knew after his six years in congress, that the fixed debt of the country was such that a reduction of even 5 per cent was an impossibility.

President Harding during his campaign also suggested rather vaguely a plan for an association of nations which would do away with the terrible league of nations, but which would in some way accomplish all of the beneficent things which were promised for the league.

Mrs. Funk then asked how the republican party had served the people, how they had made good on their promises. She said that those that were not yet convinced would be by the next presidential election, as there was no doubt that the situation would grow worse.

First Mrs. Funk took up the great minds which the president had gathered around him, including Mr. Daugherty. She referred to Andrew J. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, whose power over the financial condition is almost unlimited. Mr. Mellon was recently rated by Roger Babson, the great statistician, as one of the three richest men in the country—Rockefeller, Ford and Mr. Mellon. While Mr. Babson did not know which of the three was the wealthiest, he said that there was no doubt that Mr. Mellon's income was twice as large as Ford's and Rockefeller's combined. Mr. Mellon then has the largest income of any man in the world and he is in charge of the financial destiny of the United States. His power was said to exceed that of a king. Mrs. Funk said that she had picked at random one of the large number of corporations of which Mr. Mellon was interested.

She then told of the county in Illinois from which she came and where she has lived most of her life. She described the great prosperity before the present time, and of the terrible conditions now, fifty-seven farmers having gone bankrupt in this county alone. She also told of the conditions in western Nebraska and Wyoming, through which she has recently traveled. Hardly a dozen stockmen are left in Wyoming, the great plains are bare and deserted. In deadly earnest she said that if the dry farmers could not shoot a jackrabbit a day their families would go hungry.

She said that when Andrew Mellon became secretary of the treasury the money per capita was $57. In ten months, under the Mellon regime, this was reduced to $39. These figures are for the money in circulation. Under any possible system to deflate the currency the drop in ten months should have taken at least six and possibly ten years. The value of the land in the country was reduced from $0 billion to 50 billion, or 30 billion taken from the farmers. The income tax of the millionaire was reduced $300,000 while the tax of the $100,000 concern was increased $260. She said that the soldiers bonus could be paid from this reduction, and some of the promises of the politicians who could not speak of the dear boys at election time without tears would be fulfilled.

The house, Mrs. Funk said, was absolutely controlled by seven committees. On three of these committees there were seventeen millionaires. Borah recently threatened to resign from the labor committee because his hands were tied by the presence of millionaires of which the committee was composed.

Raps Code System.

She then took up the code law, which she said resembled that of her own state of Illinois, except that it was worse.

She spoke of the propaganda about Bryan being a wet. "I had supposed that if there was dry territory any place in the United States it would be around somebody named Bryan," she said. She said that she had formerly been a member of the W. C. T. U. and of the Anti-Saloon League but that she, as well as thousands of other, had left these organizations because of their unwarranted step into politics.

Mr. Bryan she said, had nerve enough to wipe out the code, and put Nebraska back on a business basis.

She spoke of Senator Hitchcock and eulogized him in the most glowing terms, as having courage and high ideals. The women, she said, had not been given the ballot to work petty revenge on a man simply because he had at one time been opposed to suffrage, and compared his open stand with that of President Harding.

Howell, she said, had been a member of the state legislature from Douglas county when it was said that no dry had a chance to be elected. In answer to the question as to his wet or dry tendencies, he said that his mother and aunts had been active in the W. C. T. U.

Mrs. T. J. Doyle introduced the speaker, and Mrs. Charles T. Spencer presided.

RAINFALL TOTALS OVER TWO INCHES

Was Great Help to Wheat—More Precipitation Is Expected Soon.

The rain which began on Monday and ended during the night of Wednesday brought a total of 2.27 inches of rain to Lincoln and a like amount to most o fthe territory in eastern Nebraska. During Tuesday the total precipitation was .4 of an inch here and .62 of an inch at Omaha.

No further rain is expected by the weather bureau for two days at least but another storm center has already appeared along the west coast and may cause further rains in the middle west before the week ends. The two inches of rain has moistened the ground to a depth of eight to twelve inches and will cause the germination of the winter wheat that has not yet sprouted. Another rain of equal proportions will probably mean enough moisture to carry the crop through the winter.

Reed Now Special Valuation Counsel

Eugene W. Reed, who has been employed by the state railway commission during the past year as special assistant on valuation of railroads, has now been employed as special valuation counsel to represent a group of central western states in valuation cases now pending before the interstate commerce commission. Nebraska is included in the group of states he will will represent. Other states participating are Colorado, South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma. These states are co-operating in the presentation of protests against the tentative valuation of the Rock Island and other carriers as made by the national bureau of valuation.

A resumption of the Rock Island valuation hearing will begin December 7, before an examiner at Washington, D. C. The valuations to be fixed will be used as a basis for rates.

The old man died today. A few hours later the body was identified as that of John Russell Tabor, a millionaire maker of decorative marble known for many years as the "marble king."

His daughter, Marian Tabor, has charge of the occupational Theapy work at the hospital where her father died.

FINE NEW SCHOOL HOUSE COMPLETED

Modern Fire Proof Structure Built By Hastings Parish.

Housewarming Held Just One Year From Time Plan Inaugurated.

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., Nov. 2.—Almost to the day a year from the time it was first decided to build a new parochial school here, St. Cecelia's Catholic church held the housewarming of the new $58,000 building this week.

It was a day of double happiness for the parishioners since it also marked the home coming of their beloved priest, Rev. Father William McDonald, who has been on the western coast for a year in the interest of his health.

Secretary W. M. Whelan of the building committee gave a report on the fine new school, and welcomed Father McDonald home in the name of his congregation.

"One year ago, we faced the very stern necessity of moving out of the little old school building," Mr. said. "Just one month after Father McDonald named a committee to investigate building conditions and call for plans, the committee organized and began work.

"W. B. Cushing was made chairman, W. M. Whelan, secretary, and P. J. Franey, treasurer. Others on the committee were J. T. Biglin, John Schmidt, and Seven Swigle.

"As a result of the co-operation of these men we have now the finest building it is possible to erect within the bounds of the cost, which was exactly $57,784.10, including the furnishings now in the school such as desks, tables, cupboards and furnace."

He recalled the fact that excavation was started late last fall and continued after the frost was out of the ground this spring, that actual building began on March 1, that the corner stone was laid on May 3 and that school began in the structure on September 7, though the building was not officially accepted by the committee until September 20.

Work of Organizations.

The edifice represents the combined and untiring efforts of seven organizations of the church, and the congregation. These organizations were the Boy Scouts, the Daughters of Mary, the Sodality, the Dramatic club, St. Cecilia's Social circle, the Altar society and the Knights of Columbus.

The building is a marvel for its cost. It is built of dull red brick and white stone and measures 70 by 80 feet. It has three stories and is fire proof almost throughout.

Not a stick of unnecessary wood has been used in the building. The stairs and hallways are constructed entirely of steel and cement. Floors throughout the building are laid over concrete with only a deadener of soft felt between and if fire ever should start in the hard wood flooring, it could do little damage. There can never be any giving way of rafters to allow floors to fall with disastrous effect.

All outside doors are fitted with locks that open from within at the slightest touch of children's hands and every window frame is of steel, as further preventative of fire.

At present rooms are entirely on the second floor and grades from the first through the eighth are taught there by Sisters Mary David, Maary Raymond, Clara and Emily.

The third floor is designed to be later divided into rooms for a high school, but the present it is all in one large room now to be used as auditorium for plays to be given by the Dramatic club, for card parties and dances.

On the first floor are two rooms that will probably in time be used as recitation rooms, but now are used as kitchen and small party room as well as a place in which the Dramatic club holds its rehearsals.

The gymnasium is the pride of the parish. It is a room 30 by 70 feet and has been dropped below the ground so that it has a seventeen-foot ceiling. The floor is of hard maple specially treated with lignophot to prevent cupping because of moisture. It is laid over a concrete base, on the west side is a series of concrete steps wide enough to hold folding chairs when contests are held.

Basket ball has already been provided for and it is the plan of the school to mark out an indoor tennis court soon. Private stairways lead to the boys' and girls' showers and toilet rooms at either end of the gymnasium.

The boiler room is seventeen feet below the surface of the ground and is equipped with the latest appliances for quick heating of so large a building. The ash and coal rooms are excavated from under the alley to the north of the school so no valuable space is lost inside the building.

Hastings College Players Appear In Three Offerings

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., Nov. 2.—The presentation of Ibsen's "Ghost" Wednesday afternoon and "The Climax" with "Pater Noster" as a curtain raiser in the evening by the Clarke & Ross company marked the introduction of the Hastings College Drama league here.

The organization has recently been formed for serious study of the drama and hopes from time to time to engage in the production of plays, the actors of which will be called the Collegian Players.

Since the first announcement of the three plays was made, the Drama league has received wide commendation for its undertaking, since it was recognized that the company throughout was made up of persons who have won real distinction in their profession.

Both afternoon and evening performances were well attended.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.

Today's stock market gave the most exhibition of strength in several weeks, buying embracing all classes of stocks and gains in the active issues ranging from ½ to 2 points. Short covering founded on the belief that the recent reaction had run its course furnished the impetus for the advance, but buying for the long account also was an important factor, prices holding up well despite extensive liquidation on behalf of a bankrupt brokerage firm, and a heavy volume of realizing sales at the higher levels. Sales approximated 1,200,000 shares.

Stock prices were pushed up in rapid fashion at the opening of today's stock market, the buying embracing a wide list of standard shares and high class specialties. Standard and Mexican oils showed some hesitancy at first, but later began climbing with the rest of the list. Belief that the recent reaction had run its course brought a flood of overnight buying orders into the market. Inquiry for railroad shares were influenced by record car loadings, gains of 1 to 2 points being registered by Reading, Northern Pacific, Canadian Pacific, St. Paul preferred, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Chicago & Northwestern and Nickel Plate. Gains of equal extent were scored in the leadership of Studebaker and American Locomotive, each up about 2 points, while Mexican Petroleum, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Barnsdall A and California Petroleum were in demand. Sinclair Oil, up 1 point to 2 points, outstanding of shares. Utilities were up 1 point to 2 points. Among other individual strong spots were Vanadium Steel, Coca Cola, Continental Can, Marine preferred, United States Alcohol, American Snuff, American Tobacco, United States Realty, Studebaker preferred, Commodities, as a group, up 1 point to 2 points.

Short covering accelerated much of the early advance, with changes from 1 to 3 points in active shares. Speculators took the advance, noting a further decline of the week's resistance shown by the list on the large volume of realizing sales, to the buying with fresh confidence. Embargoed stocks with fresh news, including reports covering trade with automobile producers, would that October automobile production and conspicuous exports, that of foreign government bonds also were such as to further cheerful sentiment. The largest individual gains were made by DuPont, American Express, American Car & Foundry, Coca Cola, Chicago Pneumatic Tool and American Tobacco up 2 to 5 points. May Department Stores, California Petroleum preferred, Jewel Tea preferred and Marland preferred, were reactionary, losing 1 to 2½ points.

Call money opened at 5 per cent.

Resumption of the active demand for high priced dividend paying stocks was the feature of the early afternoon dealings. Various popular trading shares trailed in the wake of the investment movement, but in the main the less prominent issues were the active section outside of the equipment issues. Public utilities shares were buoyant. American Express rising 7½, Consolidated Gas, Pacific Gas and Electric and Wells Fargo 2 to 3½ points. Specialties advanced as much as 18 per cent, stock dividend by American Steel Foundries carried the price up over 3 points. Brisk demand for the equipments pervaded, General Electric, Baldwin and American Locomotive, 2 to 3½ points. Investment rails and Pacific Canadian Pacific and Delaware, Lackawanna and Western improving 2 to 3½ points. Other specialty advances were National Lead, 3½; National Biscuit, 3; American Radiator and Standard Oil of New Jersey, 4½ and Mexican Petroleum, Gulf States Steel, Postum Cereal and General Asphalt, 1½ to 2 points.

The closing was strong. Bull operators continue to control throughout the session bringing new issues forward to stimulate the market when several of the early leaders showed the effect of profit taking sales. Some of the largest gains were recorded by Marland, Studebaker, Jersey Central, General American Tank Car, Loose-Wiles, Endicott-Johnson, Corn Products, United Fruit, American Tobacco and Sears-Roebuck, all up 3 to 8 points.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 2.

WHEAT—Despite much profit taking on the part of holders the wheat market scored a fresh upturn in price today during the early dealings. An overnight accumulation of buying orders gave evidence of continued bullish sentiment, which received further emphasis from word of 10 per cent reduction in ocean in freight rates and from European advices telling of difficulty in obtaining supplies. A rise in Liverpool quotations was an additional bullish factor. The opening, which ranged from ¾ to ⅞c higher with December $1.16⅛@1.17 and May $1.14¾@1.14⅝, was followed by moderate new upturns.

After May delivery had reached a new high price record for the season the wheat market today eased down, influenced by selling pressure due to talk in some quarters that a setback was to be expected. Liberal primary receipts and further rains in the winter crop belt tended to restrict buying in the last half of the day. The close was unsettled, at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅜c lower, with December $1.16⅜@1.16¾ and May $1.14⅜@1.14½.

CORN—Expert buying, together with assertions that country elevator stocks of old corn had become nearly exhausted, did a good deal to strengthen values of corn and oats. After opening ¼ to ⅜c higher, with December 65¾@65⅞c, the corn market showed little tendency to react.

Subsequently the corn market eased down somewhat in response to declines in wheat. Corn closed unsettled, 1c to ⅜c net higher with December 65⅝@65¾c.

OATS—Oats started ½ to ⅝c higher, December 42⅝@42¾c, and later continued to gain.

PROVISIONS—Provisions were higher in line with the hog market.

MUSKEGON MAN, 41 LOYAL CODE CLAN ADMITS KIDNAPING DOES NIGHT WORK ROSALIE SHANTY, 12 TO HELP RANDALL

went to Archers, 533 Eastern avenue, and stayed there until Sunday morning when I took Mr. Archer to the Continental (factory) in my Paige car. I went to Eaton's boarding house for breakfast. Then I went to the Paris hotel for lunch.

Got Some Moonshine

"In the mean time, I had got hold of some moonshine and had drunk quite a lot of it. I had been planning on going to Dublin, Mich., where my second wife lives.

"About that time I got to thinking about this girl Rosalie Shanty whom I had seen at the bathing beach this summer. I wanted to take her with me.

"I wasn't sure I knew her right name, but I knew about where she lived. I drove up that way and then stopped two little boys. I asked Rosalie's mother, who came to the door, if Rosalie could come to my Eastern avenue house for dinner with my little girl.

"She said Rosalie was in church. She told me where the church was. Rosalie came out about twenty minutes later. I drove over towards her and told her that her mother said that it was all right for her to come along in my machine.

Boys Soon Leave Car.

"The two boys got in, but got out a short time later. I told her I was going for a ride and started for Dublin. I told her I would bring her home that day, along about 5 p. m. When I was within several miles of Dublin I stopped the car.

"We both got out and walked over to some scrub oak I don't know what made me do it, but I lost control. She ran through the woods, screaming and crying. That was the last I saw of her.

"I drove to William Long's place. That night I went for Susie Jansen. I returned to Will Long's later that night and later I went to my wife's folks house. From there I went to Grand Rapids."

Wilson was lodged in jail here.

Threats of residents of Muskegon to "get" the prisoner prompted the authorities to take extra precautions to guard him.

Wilson is a former convict, husband of a 16-year-old girl, and father of a small daughter.

Polls Open at 8 and Close at 8

Although an old statute providing for election notices to be posted by county clerks says that they shall read, "8 a. m. to 8 p. m." Secretary of States Amsberry holds that the more recent law extending the time of closing the polls to 8 p. m. is the one which governs. The state has been operating on the "8 to 8 o'clock" basis at each election held during the past six years.

STATE ENGINEER ANSWERS MR. BOCK QUOTING FIGURES

Defends State Highway Program and the Expenditure Of Large Sums.

Quotes Figures On Traffic From Eighteen Stations Out in State.

George E. Johnson, code secretary of the department of public works, who has read in The Star an article written by Henry Bock concerning the use of the state road funds, has sent the following reply to Mr. Bock. He charges that Mr. Bock has deliberately intended to mis-state the facts and then proceeds to give figures which he thinks confound the contentions of Mr. Bock.

Mr. Johnson's letter in full follows:

To the Lincoln Star:

"An article signed by Henry Bock, representative of Butler county, clipped from page 14 of your issue of October 20, has been handed me. I would not attempt to answer this article if it were not for the fact that I know Mr. Bock had all of the facts concerning this matter in writing, and he deliberately intends to mis-state the facts and lead the farmers to believe that they are paying practically all of the road taxes in Lancaster and Douglas counties.

"Mr. Bock states that there were seven million six hundred and twenty nine thousand, two hundred seven dollars and six cents appropriated by the 1921 session, and that the state engineer in explanation of this amount explained that "the appropriation included federal and also state money for all other activities." Mr Bock states "he no doubt refers to road activities." This matter was gone into very thoroughly at the hearing and Mr. Bock thoroughly understood that the above appropriation was the total appropriation for the department of public works before the reduction of $557,822.99 was made by the special session, and that the appropriation not only included appropriations for road work—including both state and federal money—but also the appropriation for the irrigation water power and drainage work that this department is required to handle and for the furnishing of bridge plans and all wark requirde by law to be done by this department in co-operation with the county officials.

"Mr. Bock indicates in his article that the farmers of Lancaster and Douglas counties have paid a great deal more into the state and federal funds than the counties have received back on the state highways from this fund.

"The records show that the farmers and people living outside of incorporated cities and villages in Lancaster county paid $144,407.85 and the county received back for this tax, $374,596.75, which was all spent on the main market roads in the county.

"The records also show that in Douglas county, the farmers and people living outside of the incorporated cities and village paid $143,756.03, and for this tax they received $612,950.45, all of which to be expended on the main market roads in Douglas county.

"Mr. [illegible] in this and several other articles, has indicated that all of the money that is raised in each county for state roads, plus an equal amount of federal money, should be expended on the highways in the county, claiming that practically all of the traffic is the people in each county was on their own roads.

"A complete check on all of the traffic for the week of August 20 to 26 inclusive at eighteen different stations in the state, show that there was a total of 88,958 vehicles passed these eighteen stations, and that there were 47,979 of these vehicles belonging to the county where the count was made, that there were 27,037 vehicles belonging in other counties in the state than the county where the count was made, and that there were 13,942 vehicles belonging outside the state. All horse drawn vehicles were credited to the county where the count was made. These stations were located on the state highway out from Auburn, Chester, Columbus, Dakota City, Fairmont, Grand Island, Hastings, Havelock, Kimball, McCook, Millard, Norfolk, North Platte, Scottsbluff, Spencer, Valley, Wymore, and York, and show conclusively that forty-six per cent of our traffic on the main highways of our state is from vehicles outside of the county where they were traveling.

"This traffic count shows that we can no more confine our traffic to the local county roads, that our inter-county and interstate traffic is increasing and that by next year at least fifty per cent of our travel on the state highways through each county will be foreign to that county, and for that reason it is necessary to consider our state highway program from a state and national viewpoint, and the work should be financed accordingly.

"Very truly your,
Department of Public Works.
GEO. E. JOHNSON,
Secretary.

FINAL RITES FOR PAGE ON FRIDAY

Former Ambassador Will Be Buried During Late Afternoon In Washington.

(Associated Press.)

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 2.—Within the Old Fork church, where he was christened, near his boyhood home, "Oakland," Hanover county, funeral services of Thomas Nelson Page, author, lawyer and ambassador to Italy, will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and later in the day his body will be laid to rest beside his wife in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Page died suddenly of "acute cardiac dilation" yesterday while walking with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Rose Wells Page in the gardens of his estate which is situated upon an original grant in the town of England to the "Colonial Magnate, Thomas Nelson."

Services at the church will be simple, members of the family said, and at noon the body will be placed aboard a northbound train at Ashland. At 4 o'clock final rites will be said at the grave in Washington. Flags on all public buildings in the state were at halfstaff today, in respect to the distinguished Virginian.

Recently Mr. Page, after many months of work, completed a biography of Dante and on Tuesday had received a letter from Former President Wilson complimenting him on the book. He suffered an attack of pneumonia last winter and at that time his condition was considered serious, but within a few weeks he was again at work on the biography.

Girlish Complexion Now Easily Acquired

If your complexion is bad just try this simple, harmless home treatment. It will prove a revelation to you. This evening before retiring cover the entire face with a thin layer of ordinary mercolized wax, which you can get at any drug store (one ounce will do). In the morning wash this off with warm water, followed by a dash of cold. Fine particles of the soiled and lifeless scarf skin adhere to the wax and are removed with it. Repeat this treatment nightly until the entire surface skin is absorbed in this way. Result—the loveliest natural complexion imaginable. The fresh, new skin then in evidence is soft and velvety, of appearance delicately tinted with the bloom of youth.

The old outer skin comes off so gradually, there is no pain, no inconvenience, and no detention indoors. Freckles, moth patches, liver spots, pimples, any surface eruption is of course removed with the skin itself.—Advertisement.

Sister of Accused Lays Bare Skeleton In Family Closet

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—Cross-examination of the defendant's sister who detailed the alleged mental decay in her family tree, in support of the insanity defense, was planned for today by the prosecution at the trial of Mrs. Clara Phillips, charged with having beaten Mrs. Alberta Tremaine Meadows, 20-year-old widow, to death with a hammer.

The witness, Miss Ola Weaver, declared on direct examination that her father, John Weaver, also father of Mrs. Phillips, was "insane more than half the time, and during the latter years of his life, was completely insane," that her mother, Mrs. Hanna J. Weaver, now an invalid at Tampico, Mexico, was "subject to epileptic convulsions and was considered dangerous both to herself and to others;" that Henry Weaver, brother to the witness and to the defendant, "was an idiot all his life;" and that Mrs. Phillips had "spells."

Before I used it I was suffering with pains all over, and today, I am able to do my house-work with all ease and without pain."

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally, and enables the muscles, nerves and tissues to relax and readjust themselves with the growing changes during pregnancy, and at child-birth. It should be used for some time before baby comes—the sooner the better.

"Mother Why Not Try The Newer Form Of Iron

And Be Strong and Well and Have Nice Rosy Cheeks Instead of Being Nervous and Irritable all the Time and Looking So Haggard and Old?"

"The doctor gave some to Susie Smith's mother and she was worse off than you are and now she looks just fine." There can be no healthy, beautiful rosy-cheeked women without iron. Good physicians have strongly emphasized the fact that doctors should prescribe more of the newer form of iron—Nuxated Iron—for their nervous, run-down, weak, haggard-looking patients. When the iron goes from the blood of women the roses go from their cheeks, and strength and vitality from their bodies. This newer form of iron, like the iron in your blood and like the iron in certain green vegetables, is highly recommended to thousands who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance. It is surprising how many people suffer from iron deficiency and do not know it. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you the proper amount of good. You don't get the strength out of it, and as a consequence you become weak, pale, and sickly-looking, just like a plant trying to grow in soil deficient in iron.

You can tell the women with plenty of iron in their blood—beautiful, healthy, rosy-cheeked women, full of life, vim and vitality. You can get Nuxated Iron from any druggist under an absolute guarantee that it will do the same for you or your money back.

For sale in this city by Harley Drug Co., Piller Drug Co., Meier Drug Co., Pritsley Drug Co. and all other druggists.—Adv.
